Helen M. Stevens' World of Embroidery ,2002 Helen Stevens' World of Embroidery Helen M. Stevens, 2002 Celebrates the diverse beauty of nature from around the globe Helen M. Stevens' Embroidered Landscapes Helen Stevens, 2007-05-09 Helen M Stevens Masterclass Embroidery Series books have sold over 50 000 copies to date Beautiful illustrations and gorgeous projects will inspire novice and advanced embroiderersDrawing inspiration from different cultures and countries Helen M Stevens presents a collection of simply stunning embroidery projects that celebrate the beauty of nature around the world From the polar caps to the tropics through flora fauna birds and insects this guide shows readers how to translate images in nature into finished projects and inspires them to blend traditional and modern techniques such as using real gold and silver and incorporating materials gathered from nature for surprisingly lifelike results Stevens Embroiderer's Countryside Helen M Stevens, 2008-09-15 Embroidery artist Helen M Stevens lives and works in the heart of the Suffolk countryside which inspires her embroideries of wild animals birds and flowers This book reproduces examples of her work and discusses the techniques used Helen M. Stevens' Embroiderer's Year Helen Stevens, 2004 Helen explores each month of the year in embroidery through traditional celebrations such as Christmas and Easter Thanksgiving or the Fourth of July as well as through the changing scenes of nature like the appearance of the first snowdrops the arrival of migrating birds like the swallow harvesting the corn or the ripening of autumn fruits Helen's special talents lie in her close observation of the flora and fauna of the natural world and translating them with skill into exquisite embroideries In this book she continues to share her secrets with the reader Helen M. Stevens' Embroidered Gardens Helen Stevens, 2006-08-12 The fifth title in the popular Masterclass Embroidery series The Bayeux Tapestry John F. Szabo, Nicholas E. Kuefler, 2015-06-18 Commanding its own museum and over 200 years of examination observation and scholarship the monumental embroidery known popularly as the Bayeux Tapestry and documenting William the Conqueror s invasion of England in October 1066 is perhaps the most important surviving artifact of the Middle Ages This magnificent textile both celebrated and panned is both enigmatic artwork and confounding historical record With over 1780 entries Szabo and Kuefler offer the largest and most heavily annotated bibliography on the Tapestry ever written Notably the Bayeux Tapestry has produced some of the most compelling questions of the medieval period Who commissioned it and for what purpose What was the intended venue for its display Who was the designer and who executed the enormous task of its manufacture How does it inform our understanding of eleventh century life And who was the mysterious Aelfgyva depicted in the Tapestry's main register This book is an effort to capture and describe the scholarship that attempts to answer these questions But the bibliography also reflects the popularity of the Tapestry in literature covering a surprisingly broad array of subjects The inclusion of this material will assist future scholars who may study references to the work in contemporary non fiction and popular works as well as use of the Bayeux Tapestry as a primary and secondary source in the classroom The monographs articles and other works cited in this bibliography reflect dozens of research areas Major themes are the Tapestry as a source of information for eleventh century material culture its role in telling the story of the Battle of Hastings and events leading up to the invasion patronage of the Tapestry biographical detail on known historical figures in the Tapestry arms and armor medieval warfare strategy and techniques opus anglicanum the Anglo Saxon needlework tradition preservation and display of the artifact the Tapestry's place in medieval art the embroidery's depiction of medieval and Romanesque architecture and the life of the Bayeux Tapestry itself The Lost Art of the Anglo-Saxon World Alexandra Lester-Makin, 2019-11-01 This latest title in the highly successful Ancient Textiles series is the first substantial monograph length historiography of early medieval embroideries and their context within the British Isles The book brings together and analyses for the first time all 43 embroideries believed to have been made in the British Isles and Ireland in the early medieval period New research carried out on those embroideries that are accessible today involving the collection of technical data stitch analysis observations of condition and wear marks and microscopic photography supplements a survey of existing published and archival sources The research has been used to write for the first time the story of embroidery including what we can learn of its producers their techniques and the material functions and metaphorical meanings of embroidery within early medieval Anglo Saxon society The author presents embroideries as evidence for the evolution of embroidery production in Anglo Saxon society from a community based activity based on the extended family to organized workshops in urban settings employing standardized skill levels and as evidence of changing material use from small amounts of fibers produced locally for specific projects to large batches brought in from a distance and stored until needed She demonstrate that embroideries were not simply used decoratively but to incorporate and enact different meanings within different parts of society for example the newly arrived Germanic settlers of the fifth century used embroidery to maintain links with their homelands and to create tribal ties and obligations As such the results inform discussion of embroidery contexts use and deposition and the significance of this form of material culture within society as well as an evaluation of the status of embroiderers within early medieval society The results contribute significantly to our understanding of production systems in Anglo Saxon England and Ireland The Practice of Narrative: Storytelling in a Global Context Michael Heitkemper-Yates, 2019-01-04 This volume was first published by Inter Disciplinary Press in 2016 Story can have a power and presence that stretches beyond the vast unspeakable boundaries of time and space and yet story can also have a delicate impermanence that lasts no longer than a moment before it flashes back into the void Some stories can bring people together other stories can tear entire civilisations apart Stories express and enliven experience stories project and describe the desires and anxieties of existence Stories can be narrated through written word and physical gesture through graphic illustration and musical orchestration through the spatial dynamics of architecture and the abstract poetics of conjecture For these and myriad other reasons storytelling and narrative are central to humanity and the study of these practices is central to an understanding of what it means to be human In this volume the many narrative dimensions media and critical approaches to storytelling are explored with the common intention of comprehending and appreciating the global role that story plays in the articulation of human experience
