McCort, 2016-04-28 Contributions by Rebecca A Brown Justine Gieni Holly Harper Emily L Hiltz A Robin Hoffman Kirsten Kowalewski Peter C Kunze Jorie Lagerwey Nick Levey Jessica R McCort and Janani Subramanian Dark novels shows and films targeted toward children and young adults are proliferating wildly It is even more crucial now to understand the methods by which such texts have traditionally operated and how those methods have been challenged abandoned and appropriated Reading in the Dark fills a gap in criticism devoted to children s popular culture by concentrating on horror an often neglected genre These scholars explore the intersection between horror popular culture and children s cultural productions including picture books fairy tales young adult literature television and monster movies Reading in the Dark looks at horror texts for children with deserved respect weighing the multitude of benefits they can provide for young readers and viewers Refusing to write off the horror genre as campy trite or deforming these essays instead recognize many of the texts and films categorized as scary as among those most widely consumed by children and young adults In addition scholars consider how adult horror has been domesticated by children s literature and culture with authors and screenwriters turning that which was once horrifying into safe funny and delightful books and films Scholars likewise examine the impetus behind such re envisioning of the adult horror novel or film as something appropriate for the young The collection investigates both the constructive and the troublesome aspects of scary books movies and television shows targeted toward children and young adults It considers the complex mechanisms by which these texts communicate overt messages and hidden agendas and it treats as well the readers experiences of such mechanisms Lists of Note, 2015-06-16 Lists of Note curates 125 unputdownable entries from a list of names that are as eclectic and intriguing as its contents which include myriad reasons given by ancient Egyptians for missing work Albert Einstein s demands of his estranged wife F Scott Fitzgerald s extensive conjugation of to cocktail and many more Rarely intended for the public eye these lists reveal hopes priorities and musings in a most engaging and entertaining way Each transcript is accompanied by an artwork most a captivating facsimile of the list itself Richly visual and irresistibly readable Lists of Note is a testament to the human urge to bring order to poke fun at and find meaning in the world around us and is a gift of endless enjoyment and lasting value
