Bell, 2018-10-18 Education began on the most intimate levels the family and the community With industrialization education became professionalized and bureaucratized typically conducted in schools rather than homes Over the past half century however schooling has increasingly returned home both in the United States and across the globe This reflects several trends including greater affluence and smaller family size leading parents to focus more on child well being declining faith in professionals including educators and the Internet whose resources facilitate home education In the United States students who are homeschooled for at least part of their childhood outnumber those in charter schools Yet remarkably little research addresses homeschooling This book brings together work from 20 researchers addressing a range of homeschooling topics including the evolving legal and institutional frameworks behind home education why some parents make this choice home education educational environments special education and outcomes regarding both academic achievement and political tolerance In short this book offers the most up to date research to guide policy makers and home educators a matter of great importance given the agenda of the current presidential administration The chapters in this book were originally published as articles in the Journal of School Choice Hybrid Homeschooling Michael Q. McShane, 2021-03-14 All across the country in traditional public public charter and private schools entrepreneurial educators are experimenting with the school day and school week Hybrid Homeschools have students attend traditional classes in a brick and mortar school for some part of the week and homeschool for the rest of the week Some do two days at home and three days at school others the inverse and still others split between four days at home or school and one day at the other This book dives deep into hybrid homeschooling It describes the history of hybrid homeschooling the different types of hybrid homeschools operating around the country and the policies that can both promote and thwart it At the heart of the book are the stories of hybrid homeschoolers themselves Based on numerous in depth interviews the book tells the story of hybrid homeschooling from both the family and educator perspective Issues for Debate in Social Policy CQ Researcher, 2014-05-27 This collection of non partisan reports focuses on 18 hot button social policy issues written by award winning CQ Researcher journalists As an annual that comes together just months before publication the volume is as current as possible And because it's CQ Researcher the social policy reports are expertly researched and written showing all sides of an issue Chapters follow a consistent organization exploring three issue questions then offering background current context and a look ahead as well as featuring a pro con debate box All
