Western European art The virtuosity of these works as this book demonstrates was achieved in part thanks to a vibrant artistic rivalry among numerous first rate genre painters working in different cities across the Dutch Republic They drew inspiration from each other s painting and then tried to surpass each other in technical prowess and aesthetic appeal The Delft master Johannes Vermeer 1632 1675 is now the most renowned of these painters of everyday life Though he is frequently portrayed as an enigmatic figure who worked largely in isolation the essays here reveal that Vermeer s subjects compositions and figure types in fact owe much to works by artists from other Dutch cities Enlivened with 180 superb illustrations Vermeer and the Masters of Genre Painting highlights the relationships comparative and competitive among Vermeer and his contemporaries including Gerrit Dou Gerard ter Borch Jan Steen Pieter de Hooch Gabriel Metsu and Frans van Mieris

Shakespearean Objects in the Royal Collection,

1714-1939 Kirsten Tambling, 2025-09-22 The British royal collection includes nearly 2 000 objects with a connection to Shakespeare What stories do these objects tell of the relationship between the man often described as Britain's national poet and Britain's royal family Royal collecting of Shakespeare did not really begin until 1714 and has therefore broadly tracked the development and entrenchment of the Hanoverian and latterly the Saxe Coburg Gotha royal family Not entirely coincidentally this period also saw a general increase in public interest in objects associated with Shakespeare's life and biography often to the detriment of Shakespeare's works a development partially spearheaded by the Shakespeare Jubilee masterminded by the actor David Garrick at Stratford upon Avon in 1769 The histories of specific works of art in the royal collection from Thomas Gainsborough's painting of Mary Robinson to a collection of relic objects relating to Herne's Oak and Shakespeare's mulberry tree reveal how royal engagement with Shakespearean objects between 1714 and 1939 contributed to the development of a new constitutional settlement between the monarchy and its subjects under George IV Queen Victoria and George V and Queen Mary During this period objects relating to Shakespeare increasingly regarded by the royal family as nostalgic souvenirs from a fantastical national past were useful tools in shoring up these ideas and in yoking the fortunes of the British monarchy to a new vision of shared national history Great Masters of Dutch and Flemish Painting Wilhelm von Bode, 1909 Vermeer in Detail Gary Schwartz, 2017-09-12 Vermeer in Detail introduces readers to the great Dutch artist through 140 beautiful and evocative details from his paintings The well chosen details are divided into ten themes that characterize Vermeer's sometimes unexpected interests from the faces of young women and their shawls caps hats ribbons and curls to images of paintings by other artists in a gesture of admiring tribute The Georgian London Town House Kate Retford, Susanna Avery-Quash, 2019-03-07 For every great country house of the Georgian period there was usually also a town house Chatsworth for example the home of the Devonshires has officially been recognised as one of the country's favourite national treasures but most of its visitors know little of Devonshire House which the family once owned in the capital In part this is because town houses were often leased rather than being passed down through generations as country estates were But most crucially many London town houses including Devonshire House no longer exist having been demolished in the early twentieth century This book seeks to place centre stage the hugely important yet hitherto overlooked town houses of the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries exploring the prime position they once occupied in the lives of families and the nation as a whole It explores the owners how they furnished and used these properties and how their houses were judged by the various types of visitor who gained access Art and the Historical Film Gillian McIver, 2022-11-17 Art and the Historical Film provides an important examination of fine art's impact on filmmaking grappling with the question of authenticity From Eugene Delacroix's interpretation of the 1830 French revolution to Uli Edel's version of the Baader Meinhof Gang artistic representations of historical subjects are appealing and pervasive Movies often adapt imagery from art history including paintings of historical events Films and art shape the past for us and continue to affect our interpretation of history While historical films are often argued over for their adherence to the facts their real problem is realism how can the past be convincingly depicted Realism in the historical film genre is often nourished and given credibility by its use of painterly references This book examines how art historical images affect historical films by going beyond period detail and surface design to look at how profound ideas about history are communicated through pictures Art and the Historical Film Between Realism and the Sublime is based on case studies that explore the links between art and cinema including American independent Western Meek s Cutoff Kelly Reichardt 2010 British heritage film Belle Amma Asante 2013 and Dutch national epic Admiral Roel Rein 2014 The chapters create immersive worlds that communicate distinct ideas about the past through cinematography production design and direction as the films adapt reference and transpose paintings by artists such as Rubens Albert Bierstadt and Jacques Louis David Stories of the Artists, Netherlands School Margaret
