The Symphonic Repertoire, Volume II A. Peter Brown, 2024-03-29 Central to the repertoire of Western art music since the 18th century the symphony has come to be regarded as one of the ultimate compositional challenges Surprisingly heretofore there has been no truly extensive broad based treatment of the genre and the best of the existing studies are now several decades old In this five volume series A Peter Brown explores the symphony from its 18th century beginnings to the end of the 20th century Synthesizing the enormous scholarly literature Brown presents up to date overviews of the status of research discusses any important former or remaining problems of attribution illuminates the style of specific works and their contexts and samples early writings on their reception The Symphonic Repertoire provides an unmatched compendium of knowledge for the student teacher performer and sophisticated amateur The series is being launched with two volumes on the Viennese symphony Volume II The First Golden Age of the Viennese Symphony Haydn Mozart Beethoven and Schubert Volume II considers some of the best known and most universally admired symphonies by Haydn Mozart Beethoven and Schubert who created what A Peter Brown designates as the first golden age of the Viennese symphony during the late 18th and first three decades of the 19th century The last two dozen symphonies by Haydn half dozen by Mozart and three by Schubert together with Beethoven's nine symphonies became established in the repertoire and provided a standard against which every other symphony would be measured Most significantly they imparted a prestige to the genre that was only occasionally rivaled by other cyclic compositions More than 170 symphonies from this repertoire are described and analyzed in The First Golden Age of the Viennese Symphony the first volume of the series to appear

Müller,Peter Erik Keller,Merle Theresa Fairhurst,Markus Franziskus Mueller,Floris Tijmen Van Vugt,2025-09-15 Coordinated social interaction belongs to our everyday life whenever individuals align their behavior with each other in time and space A substantial part of social interaction and collective behavior consists in synchronized goal directed actions involving two or more individuals These actions are regulated by various factors that work together calibrated by appropriate coupling mechanisms within and between individuals and their brains Hyperscanning studies simultaneous signal recording from multiple individuals has shown that synchronization within and between brains as well as within and between physiological systems and subsystems e g respiratory cardiac systems body movements etc plays a crucial role for social interaction phenomena They can be described most effectively in terms of the cooperation of several parts of the system or subsystems Emerging complex network dynamics and its topology represent an imprint of such complex systems behavior and have been outlined in several studies by means of a graph theoretical approach There has been an important growth in publications on inter brain or hyper brain connectivity and network dynamics over the last 20 years However a certain knowledge gap remains between behavioral and neural and also other physiological and physical representations or features and it requires further intensive research

Music from the Tang Court: Volume 2 R. F. Wolpert, 1981 This second fascicle includes two further suites from the Ichikotsu ch mode key group namely Toraden which probably originated in the early eighth century and Shunn den a ballet suite believed to have its source in a late seventh century piece in imitation of Cettia diphone cantans a bush warbler with a nightingale like song

Indigenous African Popular Music, Volume 2 Abiodun Salawu, Israel A. Fadipe, 2022-06-14 This volume examines how African indigenous popular music is deployed in democracy politics and for social crusades by African artists Exploring the role of indigenous African popular music in environmental health communication and gender empowerment it subsequently focuses on how the music portrays the African future its use by African youths and how it is affected by advanced broadcast technologies and the digital media Indigenous African popular music has long been under appreciated in communication scholarship However understanding the nature and philosophies of indigenous African popular music reveals an untapped diversity which can only be unraveled by the knowledge of myriad cultural backgrounds from which its genres originate With a particular focus on scholarship from Nigeria Zimbabwe and South Africa this volume explores how during the colonial period and post independence dispensation indigenous African music genres and their artists were mainstreamed in order to tackle emerging issues to sensitise Africans about the affairs of their respective nations and to warn African leaders who have failed and are failing African citizenry about the plight of the people At the same time indigenous African popular music genres have served as a beacon to the teeming African youths to express their dreams frustrations about their environments and to represent themselves This volume explores how through the advent of new media technologies indigenous African popular musicians have been working relentlessly for indigenous production becoming champions of good governance marginalised population and repositories of indigenous cultural traditions and cosmologies
