Dowding's Despatch Andy Saunders,2021-10-22 In September 1946 the London Gazette published a despatch from Air Chief Marshal Sir Hugh C T Dowding that was titled simply The Battle of Britain Written and submitted to the Air Ministry in 1941 this document became the very framework for the accepted Battle of Britain narrative which has been established across the following eighty years Set out by the leader of the Few himself its authoritative tone could surely be considered a definitive outline of the battle how it was fought and the eventual outcome It even retrospectively set the dates for the commencement and conclusion of the campaign In this work Andy Saunders takes a critical look at Dowding s despatch and analyses the facts and details contained in that important document He also puts flesh on the bones of the matters that the former commander in chief of RAF Fighter Command outlines adding intriguing historical detail and perspective to the 1946 publication Additionally Andy looks at the behind the scenes machinations at the highest levels of government and Air Ministry before the despatch finally saw the light of day As a historical document Dowding s London Gazette despatch is worthy of the critical analysis and factual expansion which the author provides in what is a uniquely different look at the Battle of Britain with illustrations throughout     Notes pour les Pilotes de HURRICANE I et SEA HURRICANE I

Juste avant la Seconde Guerre mondiale la RAF fait face à une véritable révolution: les escadrilles reçoivent les premiers monoplans cockpit fermé avec train escamotable, volets hypersustentateurs, hélices pas variable, système de carburant complexe puis avec des tourelles hydrauliques de l'essence avec un indice d'octane 100 et des instruments de plus en plus sophistiqués. Le concept est tellement bon que le format ne changera pas beaucoup pendant des décennies.
