Pyne, 2015-10-15 From a fire policy of prevention at all costs to today s restored burning Between Two Fires is America s history channeled through the story of wildland fire management Stephen J Pyne tells of a fire revolution that began in the 1960s as a reaction to simple suppression and single agency hegemony and then matured into more enlightened programs of fire management It describes the counterrevolution of the 1980s that stalled the movement the revival of reform after 1994 and the fire scene that has evolved since then Pyne is uniquely qualified to tell America s fire story The author of more than a score of books he has told fire s history in the United States Australia Canada Europe and the Earth overall In his earlier life he spent fifteen seasons with the North Rim Longshots at Grand Canyon National Park In Between Two Fires Pyne recounts how after the Great Fires of 1910 a policy of fire suppression spread from America s founding corps of foresters into a national policy that manifested itself as a costly all out war on fire After fifty years of attempted fire suppression a revolution in thinking led to a more pluralistic strategy for fire s restoration The revolution succeeded in displacing suppression as a sole strategy but it has failed to fully integrate fire and land management and has fallen short of its goals Today the nation s backcountry and increasingly its exurban fringe are threatened by larger and more damaging burns fire agencies are scrambling for funds firefighters continue to die and the country seems unable to come to grips with the fundamentals behind a rising tide of megafires Pyne has once again constructed a history of record that will shape our next century of fire management Between Two Fires is a story of ideas institutions and fires It s America s story told through the nation s flames Pike-San Isabel National Forest (N.F.), Trout-West Hazardous Fuels Reduction Project, 2003 Whitaker's Book List, 1991 PostFire Treatment Effectiveness for Hillslope Stabilization, Post-fire Treatment Effectiveness for Hillslope Stabilization Peter R.

Robichaud,1998 This synthesis of post fire treatment effectiveness reviews the past decade of research monitoring and product development related to post fire hillslope emergency stabilization treatments including erosion barriers mulching chemical soil treatments and combinations of these treatments In the past ten years erosion barrier treatments contour felled logs and straw wattles have declined in use and are now rarely applied as a post fire hillslope treatment In contrast dry mulch treatments agricultural straw wood strands wood shreds etc have quickly gained acceptance as effective though somewhat expensive post fire hillslope stabilization treatments and are frequently recommended when values at risk warrant protection This change has been motivated by research that shows the proportion of exposed mineral soil or conversely the proportion of ground cover to be the primary treatment factor controlling post fire hillslope erosion Erosion barrier treatments provide little ground cover and have been shown to be less effective than mulch especially during short duration high intensity rainfall events In addition innovative options for producing and applying mulch materials have adapted these materials for use on large burned areas that are inaccessible by road Although longer term studies on mulch treatment effectiveness are on going early results and short term studies have shown that dry mulches can be highly effective in reducing post fire runoff and erosion Hydromulches have been used after some fires but they have been less effective than dry mulches in stabilizing burned hillslopes and generally decompose or degrade within a year
