

Global Inequality

In his book, Material World, Peter Menzel and his staff interview and photograph people whose earnings place them somewhere near the middle of the income distribution in their respective societies. Looking at who constitutes a society's middle class and what they have and comparing their situation to counterparts in poorer and richer societies are particularly illuminating. Society's middle class marks off the standard

Rick Skeen is a cable splicer for a utility company in Pearland, Texas. The money that he and his wife Pettie—who is employed half time as a teacher in a Christian academy—earn puts them right in the center of the American middle class. They have a nice 1,600-square-foot home in a suburb of Houston, two kids, a dog. Certainly, there are many things the Skeen family would dread losing, but it is a safe bet that the array of kitchen appliances sitting on the washer, range, and dryer in the upper right-hand corner of the photograph would not be among them.

Ambrosio and Carmen Castillo Balderras and their four children are the Skeens' Mexican counterparts. Their home in Guadalajara, however, is less than half the size of the Skeens' and accommodates half again as many people. They too have possessions, both functional and prized, but they amount to far fewer things. Ernesto is a distributor of wholesale produce, does freelance welding, and when he has time, continues building his home. Carmen is a homemaker. Their income puts them in the Mexican middle class. Nevertheless, in dollar terms it is less than one seventh of what the Skeens earn.

Inequality and Industrial Change James K. Galbraith, Maureen Berner, 2001-04-09 The world knows that there is a global crisis of inequality in pay But what caused it Where is it more and where less severe What can be done This book deploys new techniques and a new global data set to advance striking answers to these questions answers that have eluded even the largest international research institutions such as the OECD and the World Bank Chapters trace the U S wage structure back to 1920 the relationship of inequality and unemployment in Europe and the relationships of inequality to economic growth liberalization financial crisis state violence and industrial policy in more than fifty developing countries Globalization: A Threat to International Cooperation and Peace? M. Whose innovators emphasize control rather than flexibility during innovation By addressing these questions the author demonstrates that the way nations innovate often has deep and sometimes counter intuitive implications for how they compare in many areas of socio economic performance For example although venture capital is most active in Anglo Saxon economies it seems that venture capital performance in stimulating innovation is also poorest in precisely these countries On the issue of employment the author argues that whilst technological innovation in Anglo Saxon economies creates jobs innovation in European economies destroys jobs Nations also differ in the nature of income inequality driven by innovation While innovation pushes top earners further ahead of median earners in Anglo Saxon economies it drags bottom earners further behind the median in European economies Finally varieties of capitalism also differ in their ability to cope with the volatilities of innovation While Anglo Saxon economies face a trade off between low volatility and high innovation output these two goals seem jointly achievable in European economies preferential option for the poor has become one of the most important yet controversial theological themes of the twentieth century. As the situation for many of the world's poor worsens, it becomes ever more important to ensure that the option for the poor remains not only a vibrant theological concept but also a practical framework for living out the gift and challenge of Christian faith. The Preferential Option for the Poor beyond Theology draws on a diverse group of contributors to explore how disciplines as varied as law, economics, politics, the environment, science, liberal arts, film, and education can help us understand putting a commitment to the option for the poor into practice. The central focus of the book revolves around the question: How can one live a Christian life in a world of destitution? The contributors address the theological concept of the option for the poor as well as the ways it can shape our social, economic, political, educational, and environmental approaches to poverty. Their creative examples serve as an inspiration to all those who are seeking to put their talents at the service of human need and the building of a more just and humane world.

From Pleasure Machines to Moral Communities

Geoffrey M. Hodgson, 2013. Are humans at their core seekers of their own pleasure or cooperative members of society? Paradoxically, they are both. Pleasure seeking can take place only within the context of what works within a defined community, and central to any community are the evolved codes and principles guiding appropriate behavior or morality. The complex interaction of morality and self-interest is at the heart of Geoffrey M. Hodgson's approach to evolutionary economics, which is designed to bring about a better understanding of human behavior. In From Pleasure Machines to Moral Communities, Hodgson casts a critical eye on neoclassical individualism, its foundations and flaws, and turns to recent insights from research on the evolutionary bases of human behavior. He focuses his attention on the evolution of morality, its meaning, why it came about, and how it influences human attitudes and behavior. This more nuanced understanding sets the stage for a fascinating investigation of its implications on a range of pressing issues drawn from diverse environments, including the business world and crucial policy realms like health care and ecology. This book provides a valuable complement to Hodgson's earlier work with Thorbjørn Knudsen on evolutionary economics in Darwin's Conjecture, extending the evolutionary outlook to include moral and policy-related issues.

Luigi L. Pasinetti: An Intellectual Biography

Mauro L. Baranzini, Amalia Mirante, 2018-03-18. Luigi L. Pasinetti, born 1930, is arguably the most influential of the second generation of the Cambridge Keynesian School of Economics, both because of his achievements and his early involvement with the direct pupils of John Maynard Keynes. This comprehensive intellectual biography traces his research from his early groundbreaking contribution in the field of structural economic dynamics to the Pasinetti Theorem. With scientific outputs spanning more than six decades (1955-2017), Baranzini and Mirante analyse the impact of his research work and roles at Cambridge, the Catholic University of Milan, and at the new University of Lugano. Pasinetti's whole scientific life has been driven by the desire to provide new frameworks to explain the mechanisms of modern economic systems, and this book assesses how far this has been achieved.

Structural Dynamics and Economic Growth Richard Arena,Pier Luigi Porta,2012-05-03 Ever since Adam Smith economists have been preoccupied with the puzzle of economic growth The standard mainstream models of economic growth were and often still are based either on assumptions of diminishing returns on capital with technological innovation or on endogenous dynamics combined with a corresponding technological and institutional setting An alternative model of economic growth emerged from the Cambridge School of Keynesian economists in the 1950s and 1960s This model developed mainly by Luigi Pasinetti emphasizes the importance of demand human learning and the growth dynamics of industrial systems Finally in the past decade new mainstream models have emerged incorporating technology or demand based structural change and extending the notion of balanced growth This collection of essays reassesses Pasinetti s theory of structural dynamics in the context of these recent developments with contributions from economists writing in both the mainstream and the Cambridge Keynesian traditions and including Luigi Pasinetti William Baumol Geoffrey Harcourt and Nobel laureate Robert Solow
