 The Baltic Sea area is an old cultural landscape with a well developed international framework for monitoring assessing and managing its marine ecosystems It provides a good case study for other regions where such management is being set up The chapters in this book are based on lectures given at a summer school on the Baltic Sea island of Bornholm in the summer of 2009 They cover a range of topics spanning from detailed descriptions of political agreements that protect the marine environment to basic modelling instructions to an assessment of the possible impacts of climate change on the marine ecosystem to a reflection on the role of climate scientists and their responsibility in society This interdisciplinary book is primarily directed at students and lecturers of the environmental disciplines to provide an overview of the possible impacts of climate change on the Baltic Sea It is also intended to serve as a background reference for scientists and policy makers both for the Baltic Sea area and more generally The book is a contribution to the BALTEX programme and to the BONUS projects and economic conditions of near Aral region Part 3 explores the scientific causes of the destruction using detailed analyses and data plus some of their own research spanning aquatic biology terrestrial biology hydrology water management and biodiversity They also share some of the latest archaeological discoveries and paleobotanical analysis to delineate past levels and characteristics of the Aral Sea There is particular focus on modern remote sensing and GIS techniques and how they can monitor the Aral Sea and the environment Part 4 discusses regional and international initiatives to mitigate human and ecological problems of the Aral Sea and the wider political and economic consequences With thorough insight of the total environment cost the final chapters of the book will provide lessons for the future There are insightful case studies
