Memorial of Initiative and Referendum League of America Relative to a National Initiative and Referendum (Classic Reprint) Initiative and Referendum League, 2018-10-08 Excerpt from Memorial of Initiative and Referendum League of America Relative to a National Initiative and Referendum Express authority in the Federal Constitution for instructions to Members of Congress is the ninth amendment as follows: The enumeration in the Constitution of certain rights shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people. Among the rights which the people thus retained is the right to instruct. This is evidenced by the fact that at the time this amendment was adopted, the bill of rights in four of the State constitutions, namely of North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, and New Hampshire, expressly reserved the right to instruct, and in all the other States the right was actually exercised. This is admitted in the debates in the First Congress, August 15, 1789. James Madison objected to stating in the Federal Constitution that the people's right to assemble to instruct representatives should not be infringed, because to thus admit the right to instruct would obligate us, he said, to run the risk of losing the whole system. In other words, the Federalists aimed to suppress the right to instruct, and Madison and his fellow federalists succeeded in defeating the amendment then under discussion, namely that the right to instruct should be expressly stated in the bill of rights, but the people's interests were secured in the ninth amendment above quoted. The Referendum in America Ellis Paxson Oberholtzer, 2017-11-03 Excerpt from The Referendum in America Together With Some Chapters on the History of the Initiative and Other Phases of Popular Government in the United States Although my earlier studies regarding the referendum have furnished the frame for some of the chapters of the present volume, every sentence I think is new, and many of the facts are from sources which were then but barely tapped. I cannot utter myself with the hope that such a recital will be interesting reading to every one, but I have made an effort to keep it from being too dry and insipid to the general taste.
