prosperity an era in which democracy and open trade would herald the end of history State Institutions, Private Incentives, Global Capital Andrew Carl Sobel, 2010-09-23 The growth of global finance since 1960 constitutes one of the most important transformations in social relations during the twentieth century Using historical statistical and graphical techniques State Institutions Private Incentives and Global Capital examines three important aspects of this phenomenal shift in the international political economy First Andrew Sobel explores the reawakening of the international financial markets mapping their extraordinary transformation since the early 1960s and discussing the role of politics in that metamorphosis The author then offers a fresh understanding of the systematic differences in access for borrowers in this rapidly transforming and expanding global capital pool He then demonstrates the influence of political factors in producing differential access to the global capital pool Showing how the character and stability of a country's political system affects investors's decisions to invest in that country Sobel breaks new ground in understanding the basis for the frequent admonitions by the World Bank and others that a stable political and legal system are essential for states to attract significant foreign investment With the growing debate about the effect of financial interdependence on the ability of states to conduct economic policy and indeed to preserve their independence in the face of unprecedented economic linkages this book will be of interest to political scientists and economists as well as policy makers concerned with the impact of financial globalization and the causes of differentials in access to capital Andrew C Sobel is Assistant Professor of Political Science and Resident Fellow Center in Political Economy Washington University St Louis He is the author of Domestic Choices International Markets Dismantling National Barriers and Liberalizing Securities Markets Political Economy of Modern Capitalism Colin Crouch, Wolfgang Streeck, 1997-12-22 In the wake of Maastricht neo liberalism and de regulation have come to dominate national and international political economy Political Economy of Modern Capitalism addresses this convergence and provides a comprehensive overview for the future of capitalist diversity The Transformation of the State Georg Sørensen, 2017-03-14 Recent years have seen a range of theoretical challenges to traditional notions of state sovereignty and a burgeoning debate about the power of the state in the face of globalization and new forms of governance In this important new text Georg Sørensen provides a systematic assessment of the contemporary state steering a middle course between those who argue the state is in retreat and their critics In so doing he sheds new light on just what is actually changing in the nature of sovereign statehood on changes in the relative power of different states and on the changing relationship between the domestic and external aspects of state power The Imagined Economies of Globalization Angus Cameron, Ronen Palan, 2004 This book critically introduces the main contemporary debates on globalization and demonstrates how conventional versions or narratives of globalization have served to shape policy responses at both state and corporate levels New Modes of Governance in the Global System M.
