Travel has often been taken as a metaphor for human life and the concept of travel and the traveller has varied across centuries cultural traditions and social groups Following a diachronic overview of travel writing this study considers some of the most important Italian writers of the late nineteenth and twentieth centuries such as D Annunzio Pirandello Svevo with particular focus on their note books letters travel diaries and reportage An analysis of this material indicates that these authors collect their miscellaneous notes in some cases as private and personal documents and in other instances to possibly develop future articles essays or novels It goes on to focus on the journey par excellence the trip to America regarded as an Eden In many of their works writers such as Ojetti Giacosa Cecchi Piovene express their ambivalence towards a place often idealized as a land of freedom and opportunity yet also acknowledged as a land where oppression and violence are all too real The study attempts to demonstrate how all the traveller writers discussed translate their sense of discovery in their books and the extent to which that sense affects the conception of each of the texts Guide to the Western
