Women, Wealth, and Community in Perpignan, c. 1250-1300 Rebecca Lynn Winer, 2017-05-15 Women Wealth and Community in Perpignan c 1250 1300 investigates the gender system at work in medieval Perpignan Using a series of notarial registers unique as surviving records for the social history of the thirteenth century realms of Aragon and Majorca the political confederations to which this town belonged Rebecca L Winer opens a window onto the experiences of women and their families Her interpretive framework reveals medieval assumptions about the distinct natures of Christian Jewish and enslaved Muslim women by analyzing which actions were curbed controlled or fostered in these different groups Sensitive to questions of social rank and marital status the book departs from traditional women's history by asking how a woman's religious identity factored in determining her economic and legal options in this society As a frontier town Perpignan lends itself well to an analysis of relations among Christians Jews and Muslim slaves The later thirteenth century also provides an ideal focus for this inquiry since the politics of Christian expansion and the economics of the western Mediterranean meant that Jewish communities flourished In contrast Christian Muslim relations unfolded particularly tensely due to intermittent conflict and both groups slave trade almost exclusively in each other's people Winer reconstructs how the members of these three communities negotiated shared space conducting all manner of exchanges making endogamous marriages wills commercial contracts and arranging for the care of children whose fathers were lost to war or disease The first section of the book focuses on women's legal status work and control of financial resources in the two dominant communities Christian and Jewish across the social spectrum It goes on to compare the ways in which mothers relationships to their children were understood in the Christian and Jewish communities The book concludes by entering the homes of Christian The Routledge History Handbook of Gender and the Urban Experience Deborah Simonton, 2017-02-03 Challenging current perspectives of urbanisation The Routledge History Handbook of Gender and the Urban Experience explores how our towns and cities have shaped and been shaped by cultural spatial and gendered influences This volume discusses gender in an urban context in European North American and colonial towns from the fourteenth to the twentieth century casting new light on the development of medieval and modern settlements across the globe Organised into six thematic parts covering economy space civic identity material culture emotions and the colonial world this book comprises 36 chapters by key scholars in the field It covers a wide range of topics from women and citizenship in medieval York to gender and tradition in nineteenth and twentieth century South African cities reframing our understanding of the role of gender in constructing the spaces and places that form our urban environment Interdisciplinary and transnational in scope this volume analyses the individual dynamics of each case study while also examining the complex relationships and exchanges between urban cultures It is a valuable resource for all researchers and students interested in gender urban history and their intersection and interaction throughout the past five centuries

Female Agency in the Urban Economy Deborah Simonton, Anne Montenach, 2013-04-17 This innovative new book is overtly and explicitly about female agency in eighteenth century European towns However it positions female activity and decisions unequivocally in an urban world of institutions laws regulations customs and ideologies Gender politics complicated and shaped the day to day experiences of working women Town rules and customs as well as police and guilds regulations affected women's participation in the urban economy most of the time the formally recognized and legally accepted power of women which is an essential component of female agency was very limited Yet these chapters draw attention to how women navigated these gendered terrains As the book demonstrates exclusion is too strong a word for the realities and pragmatism of women's everyday lives Frequently guild and corporate regulations were more about situating women and regulating their activities rather than preventing them from operating in the urban economy Similarly corporate structures which were under stress found flexible strategies to incorporate women who through their own initiative and activities put pressure on the systems Women could benefit from the contradictions between moral and social unwritten norms and economic regulations and could take advantage of the tolerance or complicity of urban authorities towards illicit practices Women with a grasp of their rights and privileges could defend themselves and exploit legal systems with its loopholes and contradictions to achieve economic independence and power

Death by Drama and Other Medieval Urban Legends Jody Enders,2005-05-15 Part of every legend is true Or so argues Jody Enders in this fascinating look at early French drama and the way it compels us to consider where the stage ends and where real life begins This ambitious and bracing study explores fourteen tales of the theater that are at turns dark and dangerous sexy and scandalous humorous and frightening stories that are nurtured by the confusion between truth and fiction and imitation and enactment until it becomes impossible to tell whether life is imitating art or art is imitating life Was a convicted criminal executed on stage during a beheading scene Was an unfortunate actor driven insane while playing a madman Did a theatrical enactment of a crucifixion result in a real one Did an androgynous young man seduce a priest when portraying a female saint Enders answers these and other questions while presenting a treasure trove of tales that have long seemed true but are actually medieval urban legends On topics ranging through politics religion marriage class and law these tales Enders argues do the cultural work of all urban legends they disclose the hopes fears and anxieties of their tellers Each one represents a medieval meditation created or dramatized by the theater with its power to blur the line between fiction and reality engaging anyone who watches performs or is represented by it Each one also raises pressing questions about the medieval and modern world on the eve of the Reformation when Europe had never engaged more anxiously and fervently in the great debate about what was real what was pretend and what was pretense Written with elegance and flair and meticulously researched Death by Drama and Other Medieval Urban Legends will interest scholars of medieval and Renaissance literature history theater performance studies and anyone curious about urban legends The Western Christian Advocate ,1910 Gentleman's Magazine: and Historical Chronicle ,1798 Gentleman's Magazine, Or Monthly Intelligencer Sylvanus Urban (pseud. van Edward Cave.),1830 The Rudder (Pedalion) of the Metaphorical Ship of the One Holy Catholic and Apostolic Church of Orthodox Christians Orthodox Eastern Church.
