Gawrych,2006-10-25 The Crescent and the Eagle examines the awakening of Albanian national identity from the end of the 19th century to the outbreak of the First World War a period of intense nationalism in the Balkans from an Ottoman perspective Drawing on Ottoman and European archival material the book undermines the customary negative stereotypes of Ottoman rule offering a more nuanced interpretation Gawrych provides a critical but objective examination of the evolution of government policies toward Albanians from attempts to mould them into an iron barrier to the establishment of a uniform system of administration He argues that this was a result of a complicated set of conflicting allegiances and identities rather than a simply adversarial struggle between government imposition of policy and Albanian resistance The author also analyses the general problems of endemic violence and misadministration at the provincial level and examines Albanian efforts to gain nationality rights and maintain local privileges and tribal autonomy Weaving his analysis of these events into a chronological framework he concludes that Albanian independence resulted from a confluence of foreign and domestic developments rather than from the design and will of the Albanians themselves This stimulating study offers many fresh insights into the dynamics of power within the Ottoman Empire and contributes a new perspective to the study of the development of Albanian nationalism

Walker,1991-12-31 Despite a history of persecution oppression and dispersion the Armenian people continue to display a determination for survival and a high degree of national self awareness Yet perestroika and glasnost found Soviet Armenia unprepared for the re emergence of Armenian political nationalism The focus of this book is on an issue crucial to Armenian identity the disputed territory of Mountainous Nagorno Karabagh in neighbouring Azerbaijan For centuries a centre of Armenian culture and intellectual life and with an Armenian majority Karabagh or Artsakh has consistently been denied an Armenian identity by successive Russian British and Azeri rulers Since 1920 Armenians of Karabagh have been immured against their will in Azerbaijan and deprived of many basic rights Today the majority people of Karabagh still define themselves as Armenian and continue the struggle for unification with the Republic of Armenia despite a crippling economic blockade A unique work on the subject this book also presents an objective history of the Armenian people in the USSR T rkiye and the diaspora Please note that the terminology in the fields of minority rights and indigenous peoples rights has changed over time MRG strives to reflect these changes as well as respect the right to self identification on the part of minorities and indigenous peoples At the same time after over 50 years work we know that our archive is of considerable interest to activists and researchers Therefore we make available as much of our back catalogue as possible while being aware that the language used may not reflect current thinking on these issues
