EDUCATING WITH GOLD

Abstract—This paper presents a new approach to the problem of detecting and identifying faults in a dynamic system. The approach is based on the use of a neural network to model the system's behavior. The network is trained on a set of data representing the system's normal operation. Once trained, the network can be used to detect and identify faults in the system. The approach is shown to be effective in detecting and identifying faults in a system with a large number of parameters.
