Lou Gehrig stepped to the plate on Independence Day 1939 he was not there to deliver a home run For the first time in seventeen years Gehrig was there to deliver his heart In recent weeks he had lost his job as the Yankees first baseman as well as the good health that had made him the team's respected Iron Horse and was facing a death sentence Nervous and fidgety as he walked through a forest of microphones Gehrig collected himself and delivered thirteen words that will live forever Today I consider myself the luckiest man on the face of the earth Bronx Epitaph the first comprehensive look at the slugger's epic speech is the story of Lou Gehrig's finest hour a homily of so little consequence when first delivered that few newspapers published more than a sentence or two the following day Over time however Gehrig's Luckiest Man speech has settled into a sphere so timeless and essential that it seems he delivered it only yesterday It was to be sure his Bronx Epitaph
