Mind the Gap Nina Namaste, Amanda Sturgill, 2023-07-03 There is growing awareness that global learning is not confined to university credit bearing off campus international programs and that institutions of higher learning have up until now conceived of global education too narrowly Global learning through study abroad and off campus domestic study fits into a larger context of students educational experiences You can find global learning as part of other high impact practices domestic off campus programs undergraduate research and service or community based learning all can be global learning opportunities On campus global learning can occur in the disciplines and in the core curriculum as well Language and culture anthropology sociology and other departments multicultural centers and diversity and inclusivity offices to name a few also teach students to be global learners Global learning pertains to the many staff and faculty educators who intentionally encourage students to engage with and successfully navigate difference Thus there is a growing need for bridging across disciplinary and administrative silos silos that are culturally bound within academia The gaps between these silos matter as students seek to integrate off and on campus learning Higher education needs a new holistic assessment of global learning This book investigates not just student learning but also faculty experiences program structures and pathways that impact global learning and expands the context of global learning to show its antecedents and impacts as a part of the larger higher education experience Chapters look at recent developments such as short term off campus international study and certificate medallion programs as well as blended learning environments and undergraduate research all in the context of multi institutional comparisons Global learning is also situated in a larger university context A Series on Engaged Learning and Teaching Book Visit the books companion website hosted by the Center for Engaged Learning for book resources

Global Citizenship, Common Wealth and Uncommon Citizenships , 2018-08-16 This set of essays critically analyze global citizenship by bringing together leading ideas about citizenship and the commons in this time that both needs and resists a global perspective on issues and relations Education plays a significant role in how we come to address these issues and this volume will contribute to ensuring that equity global citizenship and the common wealth provide platforms from which we might engage in transformational collective work The authors address the global significance of debates and struggles about belonging and abjection solidarity and rejection identification and othering as well as love and hate Global citizenship as a concept and a practice is now being met with a dangerous call for insularism and a protracted ethno nationalism based on global economic imperialism movements for white supremacy and miscegenation various forms of religious extremism and identity politics but which antithetically also comes from the anti globalization movement focused on building strong sustainable communities We see a taming of citizens that contributes to the taming of what we understand as the public sphere and the commons the places of cultural natural and intellectual resources that are shared and not privately owned The work of global citizenship education is distinguishable from the processes of a deadly globalization or destruction of the world that responds to the interlocking issues that make life on the planet precarious for human and non humans everywhere albeit an unequal precarity This book is an invitation into a conversation that explores and makes visible some of the hidden chasms of oppression and inequity in the world It is meant to provoke both argument and activism as we work to secure common spaces that are broadly life sustaining Contributors are Ali A Abdi Sung Kyung Ahn Chouaib El Bouhali Xochilt Hernandez Carrie Karsgaard Marlene McKay Michael O Sullivan Christina Palech Karen Pashby Karen J Pheasant Neganigwane Thashika Pillay Ashley Rerrie Grace J Rwiza Toni Samek Lynette Shultz Harry Smaller Crain Soudien Derek Tannis and Irene Friesen Wolfstone

Decolonizing International Service Learning Michael O'Sullivan, Harry Smaller, 2023-04-24 Despite the existence of a robust literature reviewed throughout this text which critiques salvationist models of international Service Learning ISL including literature that advocates deeply reciprocal relationships between global northern sending organizations and global southern host organizations neocolonial models of ISL remain the dominant practice The authors pose an ISL model that puts north south reciprocity at the centre of ISL planning and implementation based on their research and engagement in multiple ISL experiences and importantly from the input of representatives of global southern host organizations at a south south gathering encuentro This constitutes a rupture with the current model that views the host village as an extension of a group leader's classroom rather it makes the host community a space for difficult learning based on what hosts want their visitors to take home The interruptions of ISL travel represented by COVID constituted an opportunity to consider alternative models despite the awareness of environmental impacts of travel it is likely that ISL trips will resume It is therefore increasingly important that the ISL experience becomes a means of generating solidarity rather than the reinforcement of neocolonial helping imperatives associated with the traditional model role in creating a just world Global Trends, Dynamics, and Imperatives for Strategic Development in Business Education in an Age of Disruption Zhuplev, Anatoly, Koepp, Robert, 2021-10-22 Over the past two centuries the world's socio-economic progression has gone through profound paradigm changes unfolding along four major development stages. Higher education has been an important part of this process. The accelerated pace of technological, socio-economic, and business innovations, as well as ongoing fundamental changes in the real world, call for progress in pedagogy. While modern universities have adapted in various degrees through information platforms such as Blackboard or Brightspace video conferencing and other technological innovations, they still commonly rely on pedagogical ideas and concepts rooted in a thoroughly pre-modern era rooted in medieval times. Global Trends, Dynamics, and Imperatives for Strategic Development in Business Education in an Age of Disruption explores the genesis of higher education and its contemporary structure and profile in major global regions and discusses key trends, dynamics, drivers, and developmental imperatives currently shaping business education. Covering topics such as business education, online education, and strategic development, this book is essential for teachers, managers, trainers, faculty, administrators, policymakers, researchers, academicians, and students involved in studies that include industrial, economic, social, urban, innovation, legal, and policy development. Tourism, Cosmopolitanism and Global Citizenship Jim Butcher, 2019-12-18 Certain types of tourism such as volunteer tourism and student travel have long been associated with global citizenship. To travel and to experience other societies and other cultures is linked with a cosmopolitan outlook and also with the capacity to empathise and act ethically in relation to people in distant countries. In turn, global citizenship, being a citizen of the world, has become increasingly important both as a moral and political identity. Encouraged by employers, validated by universities, travel has become a marker of moral and intent for altruistic and ambitious youth with a mind to travel and the bank balance to facilitate it. The chapters in this volume explore the relationship between tourism, global citizenship, and cosmopolitanism. The chapters were originally published in a special issue of Tourism Recreation Research. Improving Classroom Engagement and International Development Programs Patrick Blessinger, Enakshi Sengupta, Mandla Makhanya, 2020-08-28 Educational pedagogy refers to student-centered learning that provides meaningful engagement to directly enhance critical thinking and creativity. Civil Society Engagement Patricia M. Daenzer,2017-09-14 Civil Society Engagement Achieving Better in Canada examines the process and outcomes of a particular series of civil society activism and establishes a conceptual framework through an examination of Canadian politics and societal change Relying on qualitative and ethnographic research document analysis and reviews of policies the contributions focus on social possibilities legal limits and societal roles to illuminate the national asset of human solidarity evident in civil society activism in Canada Patricia Daenzer and her expert contributors challenge the romanticism of the perfected welfare democracy and contend that civil society activism leads to the authentication of democracy The premise is that Canadian political and policy inconsistencies fail to protect some and civil society intervention is essential for the realignment and redefinition of articulated national principles and redistributive outcomes Although Canada is shown ultimately to be guarded in its welfare commitment this guarded progress in welfare democracy would not be possible without the activism of segments of civil society Civil Society Engagement Achieving Better in Canada demystifies civil society activism and urges greater awareness of current social dynamics and involvement in the lives of the most disadvantaged Not only are new immigrants and refugees voicing for inclusion but the very definition of persons with rights has evolved through civil society activism This book will lead to deliberations about state legal frameworks which impact civil society reach the purpose and scope of Canadian politics and the potential of civil society in perfecting our democracy
