Happiness, Economics and Public Policy Helen Johns (M. Sc.), Paul Ormerod, 2007 This book contains commentaries by Samuel Brittan and Melanie Powell In Happiness Economics and Public Policy Helen Johns and Paul Ormerod analyse the economic research that underlies politicians growing preoccupation with measures of well being In a lucid and compelling analysis written for economists and non economists alike the authors find that happiness research cannot be used to justify government intervention in the way its proponents suggest Those who wish governments to take into account measures of well being when setting policy often point to the fact that increases in income have not led to increases in measured happiness and thus governments should concentrate on redistribution and improving the quality of life rather than on allowing people to benefit from economic growth

The Virtues of Capitalism Arthur Seldon, 2004 The Virtues of Capitalism lays the foundation of his views and theories of capitalism and its alternatives The first part Corrigible Capitalism Incorrigible Socialism was first published in 1980 It explains why Seldon believes private enterprise is imperfect but redeemable but the state economy promises the earth and ends in coercion to conceal its incurable failure The second part Capitalism is widely considered to be Seldon's finest work Originally published in 1990 by Basil Blackwell of Oxford it is the winner of the 1991 Antony Fisher Award from the Atlas Economic Research Foundation This book covers a wide range of the classical liberal thought that inspired the movement toward free market reforms in Great Britain and intellectually opposed the collectivist tide of socialism In an understandable and eloquent manner Seldon offers Capitalism as a celebration rather than a defense of classical liberalism Through his analytical commentaries Seldon chronicles the economic and social history of the western world throughout the 20th century noting the intoxicating yet detrimental effects of collectivism Along the way he builds a powerfully compelling case why government should economically confine itself to the delivery of essential public goods Throughout the book he proposes free market alternatives to socialist models of government many of which still plague the economies of the world Arthur Seldon has been writing on classical liberal economics since the 1930s when he was a student at the London School of Economics during Friedrich Hayek's time there. For over thirty years from the late 1950s he was Editorial Director of the London based Institute of Economic Affairs where his publishing program was one of the principal influences on governments all around the world persuading them to liberalize their economies. His Collected Works in these seven volumes are a major contribution to classical liberal thought. Colin Robinson was a business economist for eleven years. He was then appointed to the Chair of Economics at the University of Surrey Guildford United Kingdom where he founded the Department of Economics and is now Emeritus Professor. He is the author of 23 books and over 150 scholarly articles and has edited many other books. For many years he has been associated with the Institute of Economic Affairs and from 1992 to 2002 he was the IEA's Editorial Director.

Global Environment Outlook 4 United Nations Environment Programme, 2007. The fourth report in the Global Environment Outlook series provides a comprehensive scientifically credible policy relevant and up to date assessment of and outlook for the state of the global environment. Environment for development is the GEO 4 underlying theme and the report pays special attention to the role and impact of the environment on human well being as well as to the use of environmental valuation as a tool for decision making. GEO 4's 2007 publication date marks the half way point for the Millennium Development Goals. The environment as well as being the subject of MDG 7 is also a thread that runs through all the goals.

Includes Errata Labour Research, 1984 Australian Books in Print, 1987 Resources in Education, 1996 --And the Pursuit of Happiness Philip Booth, Institute of Economic Affairs (Great Britain), 2012. Providing a substantial challenge to those who wish governments to take into account measures of well being when setting policy, this monograph analyzes the economic research that underlies politicians' growing preoccupation with measures of well being. Is it true that well being does not increase as income increases? Is it true that more equal societies are happier societies? Can we really improve well being through workplace legislation? Is it right to orientate government policy towards the single aim of increasing aggregate well being across society as a whole? These questions and many more are addressed in this lucid and compelling analysis that uncovers how happiness research cannot be used to justify government intervention in the way its proponents suggest. It explains the difficulties in measuring society's happiness and serves as a warning to policymakers who claim that they can control and increase happiness through public policy decisions.
