Speaking for Islam Gudrun Krämer, Sabine Schmidtke, 2006-09-01 Who speaks for Islam To whom do Muslims turn when they look for guidance To what extent do individual scholars and preachers exert religious authority and how can it be assessed The upsurge of Islamism has lent new urgency to these questions but they have deeper roots and a much longer history and they certainly should not be considered in the light of present concerns only The present volume grown out of an international symposium at the Free University Berlin in 2002 is not so much concerned with religious authority but with religious authorities men and women claiming projecting and exerting religious authority within a given context It addresses issues such as the relationship of knowledge conduct and charisma the social functions of the schools of law and theology and the efforts on the part of governments and rulers to organize religious scholars and to implement state centred hierarchies The volume focuses on Middle Eastern Muslim majority societies in the period from the eighteenth to the twentieth centuries and the individual papers offer case studies elucidating important aspects of the wider phenomenon Individually and collectively they highlight the scope and variety of religious authorities in past and present Muslim societies Manuscript and Print in the Islamic Tradition Scott Reese,2022-09-06 This volume explores and calls into question certain commonly held assumptions about writing and technological advancement in the Islamic tradition In particular it challenges the idea that mechanical print naturally and inevitably displaces handwritten texts as well as the notion that the so called transition from manuscript to print is unidirectional Indeed rather than distinct technologies that emerge in a progressive series one naturally following the other they frequently co exist in complex and complementary relationships relationships we are only now starting to recognize and explore The book brings together essays by internationally recognized scholars from an array of disciplines including philology linguistics religious studies history anthropology and typography whose work focuses on the written word channeled through various media as a social and cultural phenomenon within the Islamic tradition These essays promote systematic approaches to the study of Islamic writing cultures writ large in an effort to further our understanding of the social cultural and intellectual relationships between manuscripts printed texts and the people who use and create them

The Legacy of Arab-Islam in Africa John Allembillah Azumah,2014-10-01 Thoughtful and challenging this book argues for a reassessment of the role historically played by Islam in Africa and offers new hope for in creased mutual understanding between African people of different faiths Drawing on a wealth of sources from the colonial period to the most up to date scholarship the author challenges the widely held perception th at while Christianity oppressed and subjugated the African people Islam fitted comfortably into the indigenous landscape Instead this penetrating account reveals Muslim settlers to be as guilty of enforcing slavery and conversion as those of their more maligned sister tradition Only with an acknowledgement of the true roles of both faiths in African history suggests Azumah can the people of both traditions move themselves and their continent towards a new future of tolerance and self awareness Public Islam and the Common Good Armando

Salvatore,Dale F. Eickelman,2004 This book shows how competing Islamic ideas and practices create alternative political and social realities in the Muslim majority regions of the Arab Middle East Iran South Asia Africa and elsewhere in ways that differ from the emergence of the public sphere in Europe Islam and Ideology in the Emerging Indonesian State

Howard M. Federspiel, 2001-01-01 This publication reveals the thinking of a group of Indonesian Muslim activists known as the Persatuan Islam The group entering national debates in the period from 1923 to 1957 about the role that religion was to take in the emergence of an independent Indonesia The Palgrave Handbook of Christianity in Africa from Apostolic Times to the Present

Andrew Eugene Barnes, Toyin Falola, 2024-03-07 This comprehensive Handbook provides chapter length surveys of the history of Christian missions and Christian churches on the African continent since the time of Christ Africa is rapidly becoming the most Christianized region of the world While common narratives about Christianity tend to present Christianity as a set of ideas and beliefs imposed on Africa from the outside such narratives hold little meaning for African Christians or for those seeking to understand Christianity in Africa as an indigenous faith The aim of the Handbook is to propose a set of scholarly starting points for a new set of narratives The chapters collected here communicate an idea of Christianity as it has been embraced among African peoples at particular historical moments It therefore grants voice to the various strands of African Christianity on their own terms and offers scholarly study of what these voices teach us about how the world's most adhered to religion is practiced and understood on the continent of Africa Interpreting the Ethiopian
