Marriage, Money and Divorce in Medieval Islamic Society Yossef Rapoport, 2005-04-21 High rates of divorce often taken to be a modern and western phenomenon were also typical of medieval Islamic societies By pitting these high rates of divorce against the Islamic ideal of marriage Yossef Rapoport radically challenges usual assumptions about the legal inferiority of Muslim women and their economic dependence on men He argues that marriages in late medieval Cairo Damascus and Jerusalem had little in common with the patriarchal models advocated by jurists and moralists The transmission of dowries women's access to waged labour and the strict separation of property between spouses made divorce easy and normative initiated by wives as often as by their husbands This carefully researched work of social history is interwoven with intimate accounts of individual medieval lives making for a truly compelling read It will be of interest to scholars of all disciplines concerned with the history of women and gender in Islam respective arenas led by pioneering scholarship in Islamic studies      Gender and Violence in Islamic Societies Zahia Smail Salhi, 2013-05-22 As a result of the uprisings that spread across the Middle East and North Africa in late 2010 and 2011 the issue of state public violence against both men and women dominated the headlines But gender based violence in both its public and private forms has for the most part remained unnoticed and is often ignored The forms that this kind of violence can take are influenced by cultural norms and religious beliefs as well as economic and political circumstances In Gender and Violence in Islamic Societies violence is perceived not only as physical harm but includes various forms of violence directed at women because they are women These include segregation in the workplace and limiting women's access to wealth gender stereotyping in the media and education verbal aggression and humiliation control of women's finances and income forced veiling restricted access to education and health Gender based violence is thus analysed in its various forms and localities encompassing both the public and private spheres within the family the general community at work and in various state institutions Here Zahia Smail Salhi brings together a wide range of examples of gender based violence across the Middle East and North Africa from discrimination in the workplace in Jordan to the physical abuse of underage domestic workers in Morocco and from psychological and verbal violence against women in Tunisia and Algeria to the practice of female genital mutilation in Egypt The evidence demonstrates that the violence far from being of universal character across the region is instead diverse in both its intensity and in the processes of addressing such violence      Islam, Society, and Politics in Central Asia Pauline Jones, 2017-07-20 During the 1990s there was a general consensus that Central Asia was witnessing an Islamic revival after independence and that this occurrence would follow similar events throughout the Islamic world in the prior two decades which had negative effects on both social and political development Twenty years later we are still struggling to fully understand the transformation of Islam in a region that's evolved through a complex and dynamic process involving diversity in belief and practice religious authority and political intervention This volume seeks to shed light on these crucial questions by bringing together an international group of scholars to offer a fresh perspective on Central Asian states and societies The chapters provide analysis through four distinct categories the everyday practice of Islam across local communities state policies toward Islam focusing on attempts to regulate public and private practice through cultural legal and political institutions and how these differ from Soviet policies how religious actors influence communities in the practice of Islam state policies towards the religion and subsequent communal responses to state regulations and how knowledge of and interaction with the larger Islamic world is shaping Central Asia's current Islamic revival and state responses The contributors a multidisciplinary and international group of leading scholars develop fresh insights that both corroborate and contradict findings from previous research while also highlighting the problem of making any generalizations about Islam in individual states or the region As such this volume provides new and impactful analysis for scholars students and policy makers concerned with Central Asia      Muslims and Others in Early Islamic Society

Robert Hoyland,2021-03-24 The interaction between Muslims and the other religious denominations of the Middle East in the period 620 1020 is the subject of this volume This is arguably the single most important issue in the history of the early Islamic Middle East since the Muslims were initially a minority in the lands that they had conquered and so had to reach some modus vivendi with the various religious communities in their realm Fifteen articles by leading scholars shed light on this process from a number of different perspectives historical conceptual legal social and theological An introduction both gives an overview and examines possibilities for future research The period under study is demarcated at one end by the Prophet Muhammed d 632 who as the Qur an tells us had to deal with Jews Christians and polytheists At the other end lies the great legal political thinker Manardi d ca 1020 by whose time the Middle East had become substantially Islamicised

Islamic Legal Revival Leonard Wood,2016-09-08 In this meticulously researched volume Leonard Wood presents his ground breaking history of Islamic revivalist thought in Islamic law Islamic Legal Revival Reception of European Law and Transformations in Islamic Legal Thought in Egypt 1879 1952 brings to life the tumultuous history of colonial interventions in Islamic legal consciousness during the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries It tells the story of the rapid displacement of local Egyptian and Islamic law by transplanted European codes and details the evolution of resultant movements to revive Islamic law Islamic legal revivalist movements strove to develop a modern version of Islamic law that could be codified and would replace newly imposed European laws Wood explains in unparalleled depth and with nuance how cutting edge trends in European legal scholarship inspired influential revivalists and informed their methods in legal thought Timely and provocative Islamic Legal Revival tells of the rich achievements of legal experts in Egypt who disrupted tradition in Islamic jurisprudence and created new approaches to Islamic law that were distinctively responsive to demands of the contemporary world The story told bears important implications for understandings of Egyptian history Islamic legal history comparative law and deeply contested and highly transformative interactions between European and Islamic thought Muslim

Women's Lived Experiences and Intersectional Identities Puspa Melati Wan,Saiqa Anne Qureshi,Rosila Bee Mohd Hussain,2025-02-28 This volume takes a global perspective on intersectionality embodied by Muslim women It addresses questions such as balancing multiple identities lived experiences and complex realities and the role of faith in social roles The chapters debunk the idea of Islam or gender being monoliths They layer faith over gender across the globe and consider migration as an important factor thereby exploring intersectional identities that are understudied and under evaluated The volume overall brings to life Islamic women s lives in all their richness and differences with discussions on social roles positions initiatives and occupations across regions It provides recommendations and suggestions for readers to understand the complex realities of Muslim women as well as serves as a guide for practitioners and policy makers A Global History of Anti-Slavery Politics in the Nineteenth Century W.
