York Times bestseller Here's the first book in a new middle grade fantasy adventure series from the author of The Unwanteds. Fifteen years ago eight supernatural criminals fled Estero City to make a new life in an isolated tropical hideout. Over time seven of them disappeared without a trace, presumed captured or killed. And now the remaining one has died. Left behind to fend for themselves are the criminals' five children, each with superpowers of their own: Birdie can communicate with animals, Brix has athletic abilities and can heal quickly, Tenner can swim like a fish and can see in the dark and hear from a distance, Seven's skin camouflages to match whatever is around him, Cabot hasn't shown signs of any unusual power yet. Then one day Birdie finds a map among her father's things that leads to a secret stash. There is also a note: Go to Estero, find your mother, and give her the map. The five have lived their entire lives in isolation. What would it mean to follow the map to a strange world full of things they've only heard about, like cell phones, cars, and electricity? A world where, thanks to their parents being supernatural, being a criminal is a crime.

Has the Librarian really abandoned them in their quest to take down Fuerte's regime, or has she been kidnapped? Then, without warning, Troy Cordoba, Tenner's dad, who has been working for Fuerte for years, shows up at the five's safe house, wanting to join their cause but accidentally leading the presidential guards right to their doorstep. Troy insists that he has changed for the better, but Tenner isn't sure he can be trusted. Meanwhile, Magdalia Palacio's election campaign is gaining steam. If she's against the president, does that make her the five's ally?
