Globally Kathy Short, Deanna Day, Jean Schroeder, 2023-10-10 With the world visibly present in students' lives through technology, mass and social media, economic interdependency, and global mobility, it is more important than ever to develop curriculum that is intercultural. In Teaching Globally: Reading the World Through Literature, a community of educators show us how to use global children's literature to help students explore their own cultural identities. Edited by Kathy Short, Deanna Day, and Jean Schroeder, this book explains why global curriculum is important and how you can make space for it within district and state school mandates. Teaching Globally is built around a curriculum framework developed by Short and can help teachers integrate a global focus into existing literacy and social studies curricula, evaluate global resources, guide students as they investigate cross-cultural issues, and create classroom activities with an intercultural perspective. Filled with vignettes from K-8 urban, suburban, and rural schools that describe successes and struggles, Teaching Globally aims to integrate global literature into classrooms and challenge students to understand and accept those different from themselves. The book also includes extensive lists of recommendations, websites, professional books, and an appendix of global text sets as mentioned by the authors. Children of Afghanistan

Jennifer Heath, Ashraf Zahedi, 2014-11-15 The first comprehensive look at youth living in a country attempting to rebuild itself after three decades of civil conflict, Children of Afghanistan relies on the research and fieldwork of twenty-one experts to cover an incredible range of topics. Focusing on the full scope of childhood from birth through young adulthood, this edited volume examines a myriad of issues: early childhood socialization in war and peace, education, literacy, vocational training, and apprenticeship, refugee life, mental and physical health, including disabilities and nutrition, children's songs, folktales, and art, sports and play, orphans' life on the streets, child labor, and children as family breadwinners, child soldiers, and militarization, sexual exploitation, growing up in prison, marriage, family violence, and other issues vital to understanding empowerment and transformation Children of Afghanistan is the first volume that not only attempts to analyze the range of challenges facing Afghan children across class gender and region but also offers solutions to the problems they face With nearly half of the population under the age of fifteen the future of the country no doubt lies with its children Those who seek peace for the region must find solutions to the host of crises that have led the United Nations to call Afghanistan the worst place on earth to be born The authors of Children of Afghanistan provide child centered solutions to rebuilding the country s cultural social and economic institutions
