children occupy both physically and imaginatively are never neutral. Instead they carry social, cultural, and political histories that impose or attempt to impose behavioral expectations. Moreover, the spaces identified with childhood reflect and reveal adult expectations of where children belong. The essays in Containing Childhood: Space and Identity in Children's Literature explore the multifaceted and dynamic nature of space as well as the relationship between space and identity in children's literature. Contributors to the volume address such questions as: What is the nature of that relationship? What happens to the spaces associated with childhood over time? How do children conceptualize and lay claim to their own spaces? The book features essays on popular and lesser-known children's fiction from North America and Great Britain, including works like The Hate U Give, His Dark Materials, The Giver quartet, and Shadowshaper. Adopting a multidisciplinary approach in their analysis, contributors draw upon varied scholarly areas such as philosophy, race, class, and gender studies, among others. Without reducing the issues to any singular theory or perspective, each piece provides insight into specific treatments of space in specific periods of time, thereby affording scholars a greater appreciation of the diverse spatial patterns in children's literature.
