The Influence of Teacher-Student Relationships and Feedback on Students' Engagement with Learning Roger Wood, 2018-06-11 This book presents a potential hierarchy between the three basic psychological needs central to Self Determination Theory SDT Findings from the author s research suggest that the motivation to exercise autonomy is an outcome that is cumulatively influenced by the perceived quality of the teacher student relationship and students perceived competence within specific learning contexts and with a specific teacher These findings are the basis for three hypotheses regarding students motivation to engage with learning activities The first is that perceived competence is informed by and reciprocally informs the quality of the teacher student relationship The second is that students perceived competence and the quality of the teacher student relationship have a combined impact upon students autonomous motivation The final posit is that a teacher can be autonomy supportive both prior to and during activities where students have opportunities to exercise their autonomy Such autonomy support includes the influence of teacher feedback upon students perceived competence and their subsequent motivation to autonomously engage with learning activities This research begins to unravel such motivational interplay through an SDT informed model which is used as the basis for discussing the specific influence of teacher feedback and autonomy support upon students engagement with learning activities in formal learning settings The findings and model are worthy of further testing and development as part of the wider agenda of student engagement wellbeing and positive psychology prevalent in educational research education psychology and the philosophy of social motivation Motivation, Educational Policy and Achievement Sam Carr,2015-12-14 Motivation Educational Policy and Achievement seeks to theorise and critique current trends in education through the lens of key ideas from motivational theory Its purpose is to argue that current educational trends on a macro level are a significant threat to the provision of classroom practices seeking to create an educational environment that motivational theorists would argue is best placed to develop motivational equality optimal motivation and wellbeing Linking major contemporary theories of motivation to wider educational and political debate this unique resource will bring about two major benefits it will vocalise and mobilise the substantial research evidence from motivational theory in order to ensure that it contributes more explicitly to a critique of current neoliberal trends and motivation researchers will be better positioned to move the theory forward in relation to what is happening in the real world of education Areas covered include developing a more critical space in relation to the field of motivational psychology and contemporary educational policy linking motivational theory to education policy and broader social and political structures the neoliberal educational landscape an overview of achievement goal theory and self determination theory Motivation Educational Policy and Achievement is a wake up call for educational practitioners and policy makers and essential reading for all advanced students and researchers in the fields of educational psychology and educational research Virtual Reality Interventions for Patients Under Palliative Care Olive K.
