Alliance of the Colored Peoples Joseph Calvitt Clarke, 2011 A detailed examination of Ethiopian Japanese relations from their beginnings in the interwar period through the Italo Ethiopian War of 1935 6 drawing on Japanese Russian Italian French and English sources With the Japanese posing as the leader of the world's colored peoples before World War II many Ethiopians turned to Japan for inspiration By offering them commercial opportunities by seeking their military support and by reaching out to popular Japanese opinion Ethiopians tried to soften the stark reality of a stronger Italy encroaching on their country Europeans feared Japan's growing economic and political influence in the colonial world Jealously guarding its claimed rights in Ethiopia against all comers among Italy's reasons for going to war was the perceived need to blunt Japan's commercial and military advances into Northeast Africa Meanwhile throughout 1934 and the summer of 1935 Moscow worked hard and in ways contrary to its claimed ideological imperatives to make Collective Security work Ethiopia was a small price to pay Italy for cooperation against Nazi Germany in Austria and Imperial Japan in China Yellow Japanese and black Ethiopian collaboration before the war illuminates the pernicious and flexible use of race in international diplomacy In odious terms Italians used race to justify their actions as defending western and white civilization The Japanese used race to explain their tilt toward Ethiopia The Soviets used race to justify their support for Italy until late 1935 Ethiopia used race to attract help and colored peoples worldwide rallied to Ethiopia's call J Calvitt Clarke III is Professor Emeritus of History at Jacksonville University Florida Shakin' Up Race and Gender Marta E. Sánchez, 2009-07-21 The second phase of the civil rights movement 1965-1973 was a pivotal period in the development of ethnic groups in the United States In the years since then new generations have asked new questions to cast light on this watershed era No longer is it productive to consider only the differences between ethnic groups we must also study them in relation to one another and to U.S. mainstream society In Shakin' Up Race and Gender Marta E. Sánchez creates an intercultural frame to study the historical and cultural connections among Puerto Ricans, African Americans, and Chicanos as since the 1960s Her frame opens up the black-white binary that dominated the 1960s and 1970s It reveals the hidden yet real ties that connected ethnics of color and white ethnics in a shared intercultural history By using key literary works published during this time Sánchez reassesses and refutes the unflattering portrayals of ethnics by three leading intellectuals Octavio Paz, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, and Oscar Lewis who wrote about Chicanos, African Americans, and Puerto Ricans She links their implicit misogyny to the trope of La Malinche from Chicano culture and shows how specific characteristics of this trope—enslavement, alleged betrayal, and cultural negotiation—are also present in African American and Puerto Rican cultures Sánchez employs the trope to restore the agency denied to these groups Intercultural contact encounters between peoples of distinct ethnic groups is the theme of this book State institutions and leadership in Africa Irma Taddia, Tekeste Negash, 2018-02-01 The central theme of this book is the role of education in the formation of a political class during and after the European colonial period in Africa The volume focuses on the various actors that informed and were part of this process such as African intellectuals and political leaders, colonial troops, European missionaries, and administrators At the same time the collection analyses the historical processes connected to the emergence and development of a new African leadership such as the creation of a colonial school system, the transformation of urban spaces, the development of new environmental policies, and the processes of nation building after independence The volume is made up of twelve contributions: four on Ethiopia, two on Eritrea, two on the Sudan, one on Somaliland, two on Tanzania, and one on Ghana

The British Field Marshals, 1736-1997 T. A. Heathcote, 2012-10-24 Whether any advantage or benefit will be drawn from the suspension or effective abolition of the rank of Field Marshal is debatable What is certain, however, is that Dr. Tony Heathcote's idea of compiling a definitive biographical dictionary of holders of this illustrious rank since its introduction by George II in 1736 is opportune and inspired Those readers who anticipate a dry recitation of bare facts and statistics are in for a disappointment A reference work this may be, but the author, by dint of his depth of knowledge, has created a shrewd and highly readable commentary as well As General Sir Charles Guthrie, the first soldier to be denied promotion to Field

Marshal on appointment to Chief of Defense Staff observes in his Foreword this book embraces the history of the British Army over the last 250 300 years It covers not only the careers of key individuals but provides an understanding of their contribution to the successes and failures of our military past The diversity of personalities who have only the honor of wearing the coveted crossed batons in common is fascinating Alongside the household names of the great strategists and distinguished leaders lie little known and forgotten figures who gained their exalted rank by either luck accident of birth or diplomatic gesture The British Field Marshals merits a place on the bookshelf of any military historian but is likely to be found on his or her bedside table Whether or not the rank is ever resurrected as it has been in the past and as many will hope it will be again this delightful and useful book will remain the authoritative guide to all those who have held the highest military rank in the British Army

Social Theory and Regional Studies in the Global Age Saïd Amir Arjomand, 2014-05-21 A pioneering approach to social theory that rectifies overreliance on Western historical experience of development and modernization In this pioneering volume leading international scholars argue for the development of a new approach to social theory that draws on regional studies for the conduct of comparative analysis in the global age Social Theory and Regional Studies in the Global Age moves beyond facile generalizations based on the historical experience of modernization in the West by highlighting differences rather than similarities and contrasts rather than commonalities and by examining civilizational processes and culturally specific developmental patterns distinctive of different world regions Essays combine comparative and historical sociology with civilizational analysis and the study of multiple and alternative modernities Different patterns of modernization are compared within the framework of global local compressed communication and interaction that results from globalization The introductory chapter puts the present effort in the context of the seminal work of three generations of comparative sociologists and what follows is a penetrating analysis of modernization and globality opening the way for rectifying the erasure of the historical experience of a very sizeable portion of humankind from the foundation of social theory
