Hampshire Second World War Photographs:

Lee Miller, Photography, Surrealism and the Second World War Lynn Hilditch, 2018-01-23 Lee Miller 1907-1977 was an American born Surrealist and war photographer who through her role as a model for Vogue magazine became the apprentice of Man Ray in Paris and later one of the few women war correspondents to cover the Second World War from the frontline. Her comprehensive understanding of art enabled her to photograph vivid representations of Europe at war, the changing gender roles of women in war work, the destruction caused by enemy fire during the London Blitz and the horrors of the concentration camps that embraced and adapted the principles and methods of Surrealism. This book examines how Miller's war photographs can be interpreted as surreal documentary, combining a surrealist sensibility with a need to inform. Each chapter contains a close analysis of specific photographs in a generally chronological study with a thematic focus, using comparisons with other photographers, documentary artists and Surrealists such as Margaret Bourke-White, Dorothea Lange, Walker Evans, George Rodger, Cecil Beaton, Bill Brandt, Henry Moore, Humphrey Jennings and Man Ray. In addition, Miller's photographs are explored through Andr  Breton's theory of convulsive beauty, his credence that any subject, no matter how horrible, may be interpreted as art, and his notion of the marvellous.

Hampshire's Military Heritage Dean Hollands, 2018-07-15 Hampshire's Military Heritage looks at the military legacy of this county on land, by air and at sea from Roman times to the present day.

Yateley in the Great War Peter J. Tipton, 2018-07-30 There were fewer than 500 houses in Yateley in WWI but with Aldershot, Farnborough, Camberley and Sandhurst close by, this Hampshire village's response to the call to arms was more prepared than most and punched above its weight. Using contemporary evidence from many sources researched by our local history team, the Yateley Society recreates the impact of the War on our predecessors. The story of the men who left Yateley to fight territorials, regulars, volunteers and conscripts is told alongside that of the battalions of Kitcheners' New Armies training in trench warfare on Yateley Common. At the same time, in the three private houses forming the Yateley Military Hospital, Yateley women of all ages were tending wounded soldiers. With its intimate glimpses into village life, this book will fascinate anyone with Yateley connections. The names of many families in the village of 100 years ago are here, while for recent newcomers, with perhaps a Victorian or Edwardian house, there may be clues to the history of your homes. With its many illustrations and maps, this exploration of the social network and social consequences of the Great War on a small community in North East Hampshire has interest for historians and general readers alike.

Witness in Our Time, Second Edition Ken Light, 2010-10-05 Witness in Our Time traces the recent history of social documentary photography in the words of twenty-nine of the genre's best photographers, editors and curators, showing how the profession remains vital, innovative and committed to social change. The Wessex Hillforts Project Andrew Payne, Mark Corney, Barry Cunliffe, 2014-06-15 The earthwork forts that crown many hills in Southern England are among the largest and most dramatic of the prehistoric features that still survive in our modern rural landscape The Wessex Hillforts Survey collected wide ranging data on hillfort interiors in a three year partnership between the former Ancient Monuments Laboratory of English Heritage and Oxford University These defended enclosures occupied from the end of the Bronze Age to the last few centuries before the Roman conquest have long attracted archaeological interest and their function remains central to study of the Iron Age The communal effort and high degree of social organisation indicated by hillforts feeds debate about whether they were strongholds of Celtic chiefs communal centres of population or temporary gathering places occupied seasonally or in times of unrest Yet few have been extensively examined archaeologically Using non invasive methods the survey enabled more elaborate distinctions to be made between different classes of hillforts than has hitherto been possible The new data reveals not only the complexity of the archaeological record preserved inside hillforts but also great variation in complexity among sites Survey of the surrounding countryside revealed hillforts to be far from isolated features in the later prehistoric landscape Many have other less visible forms of enclosed settlement in close proximity Others occupy significant meeting points of earlier linear ditch systems and some appear to overlie or be located adjacent to blocks of earlier prehistoric field systems In the Picture Donat

Gallagher, Carlos Villar Flor, 2014-11-15 Evelyn Waugh at war is an irresistibly fascinating subject as are his war novels and diaries Drawn to units offering the greatest danger but often frustrated in his search for action Waugh served in multiple regiments saw battle on Crete and worked behind the lines in occupied Croatia In the Picture traces Waugh's experiences both vivid and mundane with a completeness never before attempted and shows how they come alive in Sword of Honour It also illuminates the brief hints within the narrative of key events of the war while highlighting its strategic direction Waugh's individualistic relationships with superiors subordinates and public opinion led to blame and controversy Working mainly from archival sources In the Picture examines Waugh's fitness to be an officer his conduct on Crete his being sacked from the Special Service Brigade and his service in Croatia New very surprising discoveries dispel entrenched myths

Photography, Music and Memory Michael Pickering, Emily Keightley, 2015-10-12 This book explores how photography and recorded music act as vehicles or catalysts in processes of remembering and how they are regarded treated valued and drawn upon as resources connecting past and present in everyday life It does so via two key concepts vernacular memory and the mnemonic imagination Tracing Your Ancestors Through Family Photographs Jayne Shrimpton, 2014-01-09 Jayne Shrimpton's complete guide to dating analysing and understanding family photographs is essential reading and reference for anyone undertaking genealogical and local history research Using over 150 old photographs as examples she shows how such images can give a direct insight into the past and into the lives of the individuals who are portrayed in them Almost every family and local historian works with photographs but often the fascinating historical and personal information that can be gained from them is not fully understood They are one of the most vivid and memorable ways into the past This concise but comprehensive guide describes the various types of photograph and explains how they can be dated It analyses what the clothes and style of dress can tell us about the people in the photographs their circumstances and background Sections look at photographs of special occasions baptisms weddings funerals and at photographs taken in wartime on holiday and at work There is advice on how to identify the individuals shown and how to find more family photographs through personal connections archives and the internet and how to preserve them for future generations Jayne Shrimpton's handbook is an authoritative accessible guide to old photographs that no family or local historian can be without As featured in The Argus
