Los Alamos Rolodex Doing Business With The National Lab 1967 1978:

Los Alamos Rolodex Center for Center for Land Use Interpretation, 2015-12-29 In 2012 the Center for Land Use Interpretation acquired a set of seven rolodexes from the dispersed collection of former Los Alamos National Laboratory employee Ed Grothus who operated a salvage company of lab cast offs known as The Black Hole Now part of the Center's Radioactive Archive the rolodexes contain thousands of business cards kept by some unknown office in the lab over the 1960s and 1970s the peak of the arms race and its technological development They are a physical record of everything from major military contractors to obscure high and low tech software widget suppliers many of which are no longer extant or have evolved The selection of 150 cards may be viewed as a snapshot of synergies between the business community and America's atomic might On the one hand they are a direct indexical connection from the recent past to the sources of creating the most sophisticated and powerful national defense technologies in the world On the other hand they are obsolete information relics of a former usefulness As a specific printed historical record superbly reproduced in full color they are relevant to a potential understanding of the present they are evocative evidence of the links that formed the secret technology of our nation

Maintaining High Scientific Quality at Los Alamos and Lawrence Livermore National Laboratories National Research Council, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Committee on Criteria for the Management of Los Alamos

and Lawrence Livermore National Laboratories, 2004-05-17 In recent years there has been concern about security and operations management at Los Alamos and Lawrence Livermore National Laboratories LANL and LLNL As a result Congress directed the Department of Energy DOE to hold open competitions for the management and operations M O contracts for both LANL and LLNL The quality of the scientific programs however did not appear to be a factor in that action and the DOE's National Nuclear Security Administration NNSA wanted to ensure that the contract competitions preserve the high quality science and engineering currently being performed at the labs It asked the NRC to recommend how best the NNSA can create meaningful qualification and selection discriminators to help ensure world class scientific quality is maintained in programs and activities at LANL and LLNL This report presents those recommendations along with other important factors that should be considered in developing the request for proposals for the upcoming contract competition
