Fatal Glamour Paul Delany, 2015-04-01 Rupert Brooke b 1887 died on April 23 1915 two days before the start of the Battle of Gallipoli and three weeks after his poem The Soldier was read from the pulpit of St Paul s Cathedral on Easter Sunday Thus began the myth of a man whose poetry crystallizes the sentiments that drove so many to enlist and assured those who remained in England that their beloved sons had been absolved of their sins and made perfect by going to war In Fatal Glamour Paul Delany details the person behind the myth to show that Brooke was a conflicted but magnetic figure Strikingly beautiful and able to fascinate almost everyone who saw him from Winston Churchill to Henry James Brooke was sexually ambivalent and emotionally erratic He had a series of turbulent affairs with women but also a hidden gay life He was attracted by the Fabian Society's socialist idealism and Neo Pagan innocence but could be by turns nasty misogynistic and anti Semitic Brooke's emotional troubles were acutely personal and also acutely typical of Edwardian young men formed by the public school system Delany finds a thread of consistency in the character of someone who was so well able to move others but so unable to know or to accept himself A revealing biography of a singular personality Fatal Glamour also uses Brooke's life to shed light on why the First World War began and how it unfolded
