Love Your Mother Like It Or Not:

Love Your Mother Mallory McDuff, 2023-04-11 From elder voices opposing the Dakota Pipeline to young people running for office to advocate for change every day we see real life stories about how women are making a collective difference on climate justice Women are also disproportionately impacted by climate change and thus are critical to transforming society away from dependence on fossil fuels and toward renewable energy and environmental equity As a mother and a professor of environmental education Mallory McDuff wanted to give her two daughters and her students a roadmap to engage in climate justice in their communities rather than be left feeling paralyzed by the enormity of the problem She set out to find women of diverse ages backgrounds and vocations one from each of the fifty US states as inspiration for a new kind of leadership focused on the heart of the climate crisis Love Your Mother lifts up the stories of these women working toward a viable future from farmer and rancher Donna Kilpatrick in Arkansas to writer Latria Graham in South Carolina From Alabama to Alaska from Wisconsin to Wyoming these women are poets physicians climate scientists students farmers writers documentary filmmakers and more Their work lights the way for conversation and collective action in our homes and in the world It s time we follow their lead

The First Kiss Ernest F. Payne, 2014-03-05 The book follows WB a young genius as he moves through his life and becomes a man He has lost both parents and thus he became homeless He strikes out on his own using tools his parents have taught him He lives alone in a tree his first winter He follows different people he meets and they mutually impact each other s lives He has personal obstacles to overcome such as being only twelve years old and having albinism The characters are both interesting and realistic they really bring the story to life compelling the reader to discover the outcome
