

An illustration by Edward Burne-Jones depicting two women in a dreamlike, ethereal setting. One woman, wearing a blue dress and a red shawl, is leaning over the other, who is lying down in a red dress. The background is dark and filled with floating, glowing particles, suggesting a celestial or otherworldly atmosphere. The overall style is characteristic of the Pre-Raphaelite movement.

Love Bruce Fink,2015-12-09 Quintessentially fascinating love intrigues and perplexes us and drives much of what we do in life As wary as we may be of its illusions and disappointments many of us fall blindly into its traps and become ensnared time and again Deliriously mad excitement turns to disenchantment if not deadening repetition and we wonder how we shall ever break out of this vicious cycle Can psychoanalysis with ample assistance from philosophers poets novelists and songwriters give us a new perspective on the wellsprings and course of love Can it help us fathom how and why we are often looking for love in all the wrong places and are fundamentally confused about what love really is In this lively and wide ranging exploration of love throughout the ages Fink argues that it can Taking within his compass a vast array of traditions from Antiquity to the courtly love poets Christian love and Romanticism and providing an in depth examination of Freud and Lacan on love and libido Fink unpacks Lacan s paradoxical claim that love is giving what you don t have He shows how the emptiness or lack we feel within ourselves gets covered over or entwined in love and how it is possible and indeed vital to give something to another that we feel we ourselves don t have This first ever commentary on Lacan s Seminar VIII Transference provides readers with a clear and systematic introduction to Lacan s views on love It will be of great value to students and scholars of psychology and of the humanities generally and to analysts of all persuasions Singin' and taboo The Natural Child shows how to stand up for a child's rights effectively and sensitively in many difficult situations The role of caring adults points out Hunt is not to give children lessons in life but to employ a variation of The Golden Rule and treat children as we would like to have been treated in childhood Praise for The Natural Child I had grown jaded with the flood of parenting books but The Natural Child is a rare and splendid exception I can't praise it sufficiently and would place it along with Leidloff's Continuum Concept and my own Magical Child It could make an enormous difference if read widely enough Joseph Chilton Pierce author of The Magical Child In prose that is at the same time eloquent and simple Hunt provides a mix of useful parenting tips that are supported by the philosophy that children reflect the treatment they receive This is no less than an impassioned plea for the future not only our children's future but the future of our way of life on this planet Wendy Priesnitz Editor Natural Life Magazine Learning Love Dr. Mark A.
