Luftwaffe Eagle From The Me109 To The Me262:

Luftwaffe Eagle Walter Schuck, 2009 This is the autobiography of Luftwaffe pilot Walter Schuck who flew the Me109 in the Arctic Sea fighter squadrons becoming the Russian air force's feared enemy in the far north. Awarded the Knights Cross in April 1944 he claimed his 100th kill in June of that year then barely 48 hours later shot down 12 aircraft in one day a record never achieved by any other Arctic Sea pilot. He took command of the third Staffel of JG 7 and his success in the aerial theatre was unsurpassed when he brought down four B 17 bombers while on a transit flight. Shortly afterwards meeting one of the bombers' escort fighters in combat his fuel system exploded and he had to bail out. Walter Schuck's war was over after more than 500 front line sorties and 206 confirmed kills. In a gripping narrative the author helps us to understand why he and his colleagues were prepared to lay down their lives for their people and their country.

The Me 262 Stormbird Colin Heaton, Anne-Marie Lewis, 2012-05-15 The Me 262 was the first of its kind the first jet powered aircraft. Although conceived before the war with the initial plans being drawn in April 1939 the Stormbird was beset with technological particularly the revolutionary engines and political difficulties resulting in it not entering combat until August 1944 with claims of nineteen downed Allied aircraft. The performance of the Me 262 so far exceeded that of Allied aircraft that on 1 September 1944 USAAF General Carl Spaatz remarked that if greater numbers of German jets appeared they could inflict losses heavy enough to force cancellation of the Allied daylight bombing offensive. The story of how the Stormbird came to be is fascinating history and it comes to life in the hands of noted historian Colin Heaton. Told largely in the words of the German aces who flew it The Me 262 Stormbird provides the complete history of this remarkable airplane from the drawing boards to combat in the skies over the Third Reich. Features two forewords one by Jorg Czipionka Me 262 night fighter pilot and another by historian and author Barrett Tillman.

From The Battle of Britain to Bombing Hitler's Berchtesgaden James Bazin, 2023-06-30 It was Tuesday 17 October 1939 Britain had been at war with Germany for more than a month and for only the second time the Luftwaffe had dared to enter British airspace and at last James Jim Bazin's chance had come. After joining the RAF in 1935 Jim was an experienced pilot when war broke out and he was eager to test his skills against the enemy. This first combat was the start of a career which saw Wing Commander Bazin as he was to become being posted to France with 607 County of Durham Squadron. He fought there until the last days of the Battle of France. In the course of the campaign Bazin had battled his way to becoming an ace. He was also shot down behind enemy lines but successfully evaded capture to return to his squadron and resume the fight. There was no respite for Bazin as he was once again in the air defending Britain's skies in his trusty Hurricane as the Luftwaffe sort to destroy Fighter Command in the summer of 1940. With ten kills to his name Jim Bazin was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross in October that year. But merely driving off the Luftwaffe was not enough for him. He was posted to Inverness where he served as a Controller in 14 Group's Operations Room which gave him a taste for offensive operations. In time Bazin volunteered to move to Bomber Command. He duly undertook a conversion course in 1943 eventually joining 49 Squadron as a Lancaster pilot to take the war to the very heart of the enemy After commanding 49 Squadron including taking part in Bomber Command s support of the D Day landings Bazin was promoted to Wing Commander leading 9 Squadron on many attacks on special targets such as U boat pens viaducts refineries and most notably operating with the famous Dambusters against Hitler s great battleship Tirpitz Unrelenting in his efforts against the enemy Jim Bazin was involved in operations against targets in Poland and Germany right up until the end of the war This culminated in the last major RAF operation of the Second World War when on 25 April 1945 Bomber Command attacked the Berghof Hitler s Alpine retreat and other targets in Berchtesgaden Jim Bazin was awarded the DSO in September 1945 rightful recognition for a man who had done so much to bring about the defeat of the enemy Flypast ,2008 Chronicle of the Second World War Jacques Legrand,1990 Aviation News ,2009

Messerschmitt Me 262 Walter J. Boyne,1980 Messerschmitt Me 262 Arrow to the Future tells the dramatic story of the Me 262 s combat career as a fascinating chain of events in which planning luck and even blind stupidity played important roles Even by today s engineering standards magnificent is the only word to describe the effort to bring the plane s jet engines which eclipsed the performance of all contemporary aircraft from the laboratory to production in an amazingly short time Arrow to the Future also tells the story of the people who flew the Me262 in combat Their complete accounts bring their missions to life and set the plane in the historical context of the war The German narratives are complemented by the accounts of Americans who flew against the Me 262 for instance the team of crack USAAF pilots known as Watson s Whizzers who literally stole a fleet of jet aircraft from German airfields at the end of the war Also described are the postwar efforts to test and preserve the Me 262 Included is a description of the efforts to obtain one of these aircraft for display at the National Air and Space Museum and the painstaking efforts by the team at the Smithsonian s Paul E Garber Facility for Preservation Restoration and Storage to restore the Me 262 to its pristine condition This new reprint edition is lavishly illustrated with more than 100 photographs including operational photos from World War II color views of the cockpit and interior and exterior shots of the restored Me 262 In addition to the striking photographs there are expert technical drawings cutaway illustrations and equipment and conversion tables Walter J Boyne is the author of many books including The Smithsonian Book of Flight The Leading Edge Boeing B 52 A Documentary History and Phantom in Combat as well as the novels The Wild Blue Trophy for Eagles and Air Force Eagles An Eagle's Odyssey Johannes Kaufmann,2019-06-30 The first English translation of one German military pilot's experience before during and after World War II flying for the Third Reich Johannes Kaufmann's career was an exciting one He may have been an ordinary Luftwaffe pilot but he served during an extraordinary time with distinction Serving for a decade through both peacetime and wartime his memoir sheds light on the immense pressures of the job In this never before seen translation of a rare account of life in the Luftwaffe Kaufmann takes the reader through his time in service from his involvement in the annexation of the Rhineland the attack on Poland fighting against American heavy bombers in the Defense of the Reich campaign He also covers his role in the battles of Arnhem and the Ardennes and the D Day landings detailing the intricacies of military tactics flying fighter planes and the challenges of war His graphic descriptions of being hopelessly lost in thick cloud above the Alps and of following a line of telegraph poles half buried in deep snow while searching for a place to land on the Stalingrad front are proof that the enemy was not the only danger he had to face during his long flying career Kaufmann saw out the war from the early beginnings of German expansion right through to surrender to the British in 1945 An Eagle's Odyssey is a compelling and enlightening read Kaufmann's account offers a rarely heard perspective on one of the core experiences of the Second World War
