

The image is the front cover of a book. It features a photograph of a cemetery. A central path of green grass, lined with small, rounded green bushes, leads from the foreground towards a red-brick building with three arched doorways in the background. The building is flanked by a row of tall, thin, dark green trees. The sky is overcast. In the foreground, there are several white headstones and some pink flowers on the right. The title 'LUTYENS' is written in large, white, serif capital letters across the middle of the image, with 'AND THE GREAT WAR' in smaller white serif capital letters below it.

Lutyens And The Great War:

Lutyens and the Great War Timothy John Skelton, Gerald Gliddon, 2008 Sir Edwin Lutyens is celebrated for his large houses for wealthy clients yet much of his work designed in connection with World War I remains unknown As Chief Architect for the Imperial War Graves Commission Lutyens work cemeteries war memorials and individual graves and monuments set the standard for the much admired British and Commonwealth war cemeteries In addition to the famed Cenotaph in Whitehall and the Memorial to the Missing of the Somme at Thiepval Lutyens created another 55 memorials This detailed guide covers them all including the beautiful memorial at Spalding that has never appeared in any book on Lutyens work and the cemeteries at Monchy and Croisilles in France that barely rate a mention in battlefield guides let alone in books about architecture Tim Skelton and Gerald Gliddon of the Lutyens Trust describe these moving works and the stories behind them while 375 color photographs capture their somber beauty

In the Shadow of the Great War Kirsty

Bennett, Imogen Middleton, Michael Page, Juliet Warren, 2019-10-07 The military toll of World War I is widely known millions of Britons were mobilised many thousands killed or wounded and the landscape of British society changed forever But how was the conflict experienced by the people of Surrey on the home front Surrey Heritage's project Surrey in the Great War A County Remembers has over the four year centenary commemoration explored the wartime stories of Surrey's people and places The project's discoveries are here captured through text case studies and images This book chronicles the mobilisation of Surrey men the training of foreign troops in the county objection to military service defence against invasion voluntary work and fundraising the experiences of women and children shortages industrial supply to the armed forces and the commemoration of Surrey's dead Drawing heavily on the rich archives of Surrey Heritage it is an engaging exploration of a county in the shadow of the first globalised war between industrialised nations

The Great War and the British Empire Michael J.K. Walsh, Andrekos Varnava, 2016-11-25 In 1914 almost one quarter of the earth's surface was British When the empire and its allies went to war in 1914 against the Central Powers history's first global conflict was inevitable It is the social and cultural reactions to that war and within those distant often overlooked societies which is the focus of this volume From Singapore to Australia Cyprus to Ireland India to Iraq and around the rest of the British imperial world further complexities and interlocking themes are addressed offering new perspectives on imperial and colonial history and theory as well as art music photography propaganda education pacifism gender class race and diplomacy at the end of the pax Britannica

The Political Economy of Art Julie F. Codell, 2008 Political economy is defined in this volume as collective state or corporate support for art and architecture in the public sphere intended to be accessible to the widest possible public raising questions about the relationship of the state to cultural production and consumption This collection of essays explores the political economy of art from the perspective of the artist or from analysis of art's production and consumption emphasizing the art side of the relationship between art and state This volume explores art as public good a central issue in parallel sometimes merged together and sometimes in conflict with each other Particular topics explored include the Protestant commemoration of Marian and missionary martyrs and the Roman Catholic campaign for the canonization of the saints and martyrs of England Secular martyrdom is discussed in relation to military conflicts especially the Second World War and the Falklands In Ireland there was a particularly persistent merging of sacred and secular martyrdom in the wake of the Easter Rising of 1916 although by the time of the Northern Ireland Troubles in the later twentieth century these traditions diverged In covering these themes the book also offers historical and comparative context for understanding present day acts of martyrdom in the form of suicide attacks

The Edge of the Plain James Crawford, 2023-01-10 A wide ranging journey through the history of borders and an exploration of their role in shaping our world today Since the earliest known marker denoting the edge of one land and the beginning of the next a stone column inscribed with Sumerian cuneiform borders have been imagined mapped moved and fought over In The Edge of the Plain James Crawford skillfully blends history travel writing and reportage to trace these borderlines throughout history and across the globe What happens on the ground when we impose lines on a map that contradict how humans have always lived and moved Crawford confronts that question from bloody territorial disputes in Mesopotamia to the Somali lands of Scandinavia the shifting boundaries of the Israel Palestine conflict efforts to build a wall on the United States Mexico border and the dangerous border crossings pursued by migrants into Europe And yet the role of borders extends beyond specific sites of conflict On the largest scale borders define the limits of empire the two walls in Britain that once represented the northwestern edge of the Roman Empire the mythological eastern gate supposedly closed off by Alexander the Great China's virtual Great Firewall On the smallest human scale cell walls are the last physical barrier against disease after lines of quarantine have failed Finally as The Edge of the Plain reveals humans have not only made their mark on the landscape the landscape itself is now changing more and more rapidly due to climate change Crawford introduces us to both the Alpine watershed one such shifting natural borderline and the Great Green Wall in Africa envisioned as an international community built bulwark against desertification Borders are as old as human civilization and focal points for today's colliding forces of nationalism climate change globalization and mass migration The Edge of the Plain illuminates these lines of separation past and present how we define them and how they define us
