M38 Early Palaeozoic Biogeography And Palaeogeography Geological Society Memoir:

Early Palaeozoic Biogeography and Palaeogeography D.A.T. Harper, T. Servais, 2014-01-27 The Early Palaeozoic was a critical interval in the evolution of marine life on our planet Through a window of some 120 million years the Cambrian Explosion Great Ordovician Biodiversification Event End Ordovician Extinction and the subsequent Silurian Recovery established a steep trajectory of increasing marine biodiversity that started in the Late Proterozoic and continued into the Devonian Biogeography is a key property of virtually all organisms their distributional ranges mapped out on a mosaic of changing palaeogeography have played important roles in modulating the diversity and evolution of marine life This Memoir first introduces the content some of the concepts involved in describing and interpreting palaeobiogeography and the changing Early Palaeozoic geography is illustrated through a series of time slices The subsequent 26 chapters compiled by some 130 authors from over 20 countries describe and analyse distributional and in many cases diversity data for all the major biotic groups plotted on current palaeogeographic maps Nearly a quarter of a century after the publication of the Green Book Geological Society London Memoir¹² edited by McKerrow and Scotese improved stratigraphic and taxonomic data together with more accurate digitized palaeogeographic maps have confirmed the central role of palaeobiogeography in understanding the evolution of Early Palaeozoic ecosystems and their biotas A Global Synthesis of the Ordovician System: Part 1 D.A.T. Harper, B. Lefebvre, I. G. Percival, T. Servais, 2023-06-07 The Ordovician was one of the longest of the geological periods characterized by major magmatic and tectonic activity an immense diversification swings in climate and sea levels and the first Phanerozoic mass extinction A Global Synthesis of the Ordovician System is presented in two volumes in The Geological Society Special Publications This first volume SP532 charts the history of the Ordovician System and explores significant advances in our understanding of its biostratigraphy including more precise calibration of its timescale with tephra chronology and regional alignments using astrochronology and cyclostratigraphy Changes in the world's oceans their shifting currents and sea levels the biogeography of their biotas and the ambient climate are described and discussed against a background of changing palaeogeography This first volume also includes syntheses of the Ordovician geology for most European countries including historical key areas such as Great Britain Baltoscandia and Bohemia The second volume SP533 provides synthetic aspects of the Ordovician geology of most other parts of the world The Great Ordovician Biodiversification Event: Insights from the Tafilalt Biota, Morocco A.W. Hunter, J.J. Álvaro, B. Lefebvre, P. Van Roy, S. Zamora, 2022 Special Publication 485 About 40 million years after the Cambrian Explosion the Great Ordovician Biodiversification Event GOBE represents a second and dramatic burst in marine biodiversity with major changes in the structure of ecosystems and the progressive replacement of the distinctive Cambrian Evolutionary Fauna by the Paleozoic Evolutionary Fauna However the GOBE is not a single worldwide short term event but rather the complex sum of successive diversifications occurring in distinct taxonomic groups trophic guilds and regions This book focuses on the Late Ordovician

Tafilalt Biota Anti Atlas Morocco which provides a snapshot of the GOBE in high latitude regions of the Southern Hemisphere A series of contributions explore different aspects of the Tafilalt Biota including its geological setting the international fossil trade in this area and a series of detailed systematic contributions describing many new taxa of marine invertebrates This volume represents a significant contribution to the understanding of the Tafilalt Biota and its significance to the GOBE

Cretaceous Project 200, Volume 1: The Cretaceous World M.B. Hart,S.J. Batenburg,B.T. Huber,G.D. Price,N. Thibault,M. Wagreich,I. Walaszczyk,2025-04-02 The Cretaceous was first mentioned in the legend of a geological map largely centred on France published in 1822 by Jean Baptiste Julien d Omalius d Halloy Two hundred years of research have demonstrated that the Cretaceous records some of the highest sea levels atmospheric temperatures and extreme events in Earth history It was also a time of significant palaeogeographical changes and continental fragmentation This volume draws together a collection of papers that demonstrate these particularly Cretaceous events of warm climates sea level change and the impact of major volcanic events on the fauna and flora of the time Geochemical and stable isotope data are used to interpret these changing environments and their impact on the Cretaceous ecosystem The volume closes with a description of the recent drilling of the Chicxulub bolide impact site

Devonian Climate, Sea Level and Evolutionary Events R. T. Becker, 1st,C. E. Brett,P. Königshof, 2nd,2016-10-20 The geological and palaeontological records of climate change and evolutionary events reflect Earth s widely fluctuating climate systems Past climates hold the clues to understanding future developments In this context research on linked climate biodiversity and sea level fluctuations of the Devonian contributes to the general knowledge of deep time climate dynamics A fruitful co operation between the International Geoscience Programme IGCP 596 and the International Subcommission on Devonian Stratigraphy SDS addressed the complex succession of climate linked Devonian global events of varying magnitude The primary goal of IGCP 596 was to assess mid Palaeozoic climate changes and their impact on marine and terrestrial biodiversity using an interdisciplinary approach The focus of SDS includes a revision of the eustatic sea level curve and the integration of refined chrono and biostratigraphy with modern chemo magneto cyclo event and sequence stratigraphy This enabled the much improved dating and correlation of abiotic perturbations evolutionary changes organism and ecosystem ranges Results by 37 authors are presented in 14 chapters which cover the entire Devonian

Encyclopedia of Geology ,2020-12-16 Encyclopedia of Geology Second Edition presents in six volumes state of the art reviews on the various aspects of geologic research all of which have moved on considerably since the writing of the first edition New areas of discussion include extinctions origins of life plate tectonics and its influence on faunal provinces new types of mineral and hydrocarbon deposits new methods of dating rocks and geological processes Users will find this to be a fundamental resource for teachers and students of geology as well as researchers and non geology professionals seeking up to date reviews of geologic research Provides a comprehensive and accessible one stop shop for information on the subject of geology explaining methodologies and technical jargon used in the field Highlights connections between geology and other physical and biological sciences tackling research problems that span multiple fields Fills a critical gap of information in a field that has seen significant progress in past years Presents an ideal reference for a wide range of scientists in earth and environmental areas of study Earth System Evolution and Early Life A.T. Brasier,D. McIlroy,N. McLoughlin,2017-06-09 This volume in memory of Professor Martin Brasier which has many of his unfinished works summarizes recent progress in some of the hottest topics in palaeobiology including cellular preservation of early microbial life and early evolution of macroscopic animal life encompassing the Ediacara biota The papers focus on how to decipher evidence for early life which requires exceptional preservation employment of state of the art techniques and also an understanding gleaned from Phanerozoic lagerst tte and modern analogues The papers also apply Martin s MOFAOTYOF principle my oldest fossils are older than your oldest fossils requiring an integrated approach to understanding fossils The adoption of the null hypothesis that all putative traces of life are abiotic until proven otherwise and the consideration of putative fossils within their spatial context characterized the work of Martin Brasier as is well demonstrated by the papers in this volume Canadian Journal of Earth Sciences ,2015 Museums at the Forefront of the History and Philosophy of Geology Gary D. Rosenberg,Renee M. Clary,2018 Information on museum activities around the world Pannotia to Pangaea B. Murphy,R.A. Strachan,C. Quesada,2021-01-28 Special Publication 503 celebrates the career of R Damian Nance It features 27 articles with more than 110 authors based in 18 different countries These articles include contributions on the processes responsible for the formation and breakup of supercontinents the controversies concerning the status of Pannotia as a supercontinent the generation and destruction of Paleozoic oceans and the development of the Appalachian Ouachitan Caledonide Variscan orogens In addition to field work the approaches to gain that understanding include examining the relationships between stratigraphy and structural geology precise geochronology geochemical and isotopic fingerprinting geodynamic modelling regional syntheses palaeogeographic modelling and good old fashioned arm waving The wide range of topics mirrors the breadth and depth of Damian s contributions interests and expertise Like Damian s papers the contributions range from the predominantly conceptual to detailed field work but all are targeted at understanding important tectonic processes Their scope not only varies in scale from global to regional to local but also in the range of approaches required to gain that understanding A Global Synthesis of the Ordovician System: Part 2 T.
