Ashley Wackym, Carey David Balaban, Tetsuo Ikezono, Konstantina M. Stankovic, Todd Mowery, 2024-11-25 In the initial Research Topic Third Window Syndrome we brought together recent discoveries of the mechanisms of the associated spectrum of symptoms dysfunction novel diagnostic tools and interventions to identify and resolve Third Window Syndrome The initial Research Topic was truly global in effort and representation with four continents Asia Australia Oceania Europe and North America However three were not represented Africa Antarctica and South America There were 15 countries represented USA Denmark Israel Korea Germany Australia Switzerland Belgium Netherlands Russia Sweden England United Kingdom New Zealand Italy and Japan There were 118 authors There were 20 published studies included in the initial Third Window Syndrome Research Topic and they fell within the following categories Diagnostic Studies and New Diagnostic Tools Cognitive or Spatial Orientation Health Utility Values Biomechanics and Pathophysiology Reviews Sites of Dehiscence Rare or Never Before Reported and Surgical Advances Nearly a century ago Tullio described the physiologic outcomes of creating a third mobile window in the semicircular canals of pigeons Since that time many locations of third mobile windows have been described however the sound induced dizziness and or nystagmus has been memorialized by the eponym Tullio phenomenon Clinically the most thoroughly characterized third mobile window is superior semicircular canal dehiscence In 1998 Minor and coworkers first reported the diagnosis of CT positive superior semicircular canal dehiscence SSCD Minor later reported a conductive hearing loss which was recognized as a pseudoconductive hearing loss bone conduction hyperacusis as well as a reduced cervical vestibular myogenic potential cVEMP threshold in patients with superior semicircular canal dehiscence While superior semicircular canal dehiscence is well recognized it has been reported the existence of a CT negative third window syndrome with the same clinical phenotype of superior semicircular canal dehiscence exists. It has been reported that CT negative third window syndrome is associated with a pseudoconductive hearing loss and an abnormally reduced cVEMP threshold among other objective findings typically found in superior semicircular canal dehiscence patients. The more general term of Third Window Syndrome has gained acceptance because the same spectrum of symptoms/signs on physical examination and audiological diagnostic findings are encountered with superior semicircular canal dehiscence, cochlea facial nerve dehiscence, cochlea internal carotid artery dehiscence, cochlea internal auditory canal dehiscence, lateral semicircular canal superior semicircular canal ampulla dehiscence, modiolus perilymph fistula, posterior semicircular canal dehiscence, posterior semicircular canal endolymphatic sac dehiscence, posterior semicircular canal jugular bulb dehiscence, superior semicircular canal dehiscence, subarcuate artery dehiscence, superior semicircular canal dehiscence, superior petrosal vein dehiscence, vestibule middle ear dehiscence, lateral semicircular canal facial nerve dehiscence, wide vestibular aqueduct in children, posttraumatic hypermobile stapes footplate, and in patients with CT negative Third Window Syndrome. A common structural finding in all of these conditions is an otic capsule defect that creates a third window. Bailey & Scott's Diagnostic Microbiology - E-BOOK Patricia M.
