Pests of Crops in Warmer Climates and Their Control Dennis S. Hill, 2008-07-16 This is a textbook providing basic data about the crop pests and the damage they inflict throughout the tropics and sub tropics Each major pest is illustrated by either a line drawing or a photograph and sometimes the damage can also be seen A world distribution map is provided for each species Control measures tend to be general rather than very specific Most of the pests are insects and mites but some nematodes molluscs birds and mammals are included

Architectonics and Parametric Thinking Frank Jacobus, Angie Carpenter, Rachel Smith Loerts, Antonello Di Nunzio, Francesco Bedeschi, 2023-07-12 This book is an approachable guide for students and professionals to learn parametric modeling through the lens of architectonics allowing readers to pair fundamental ideas about architecture with parametric thinking Architectonics and Parametric Thinking begins by clearly positioning the potentials of parametric design through a series of chapters written by leaders in their respective industries This helps to situate the vast potential of parametric softwares allowing the reader to understand the full range of what is made possible by working computationally Following this theoretical introduction the book presents a manual that walks readers through the step by step construction of parametric modeling scripts built through an architectonic lens using clear compelling diagrams Each of these diagrams provide textual accompaniment that describes how each new portion of the script is transforming the algorithm as a whole as well as diagrams that show the physical transformation that is taking place as a result of the script s evolution Parametric modeling is radically transforming the design disciplines and will become the primary way designer s generate new products moving forward Written and expertly designed for architecture students and professionals this book provides an interactive approach to teaching the basics of parametric thinking in relation to architecture and design Handbook of Nature-study for Teachers and Parents Based on the Cornell Nature-study Leaflets, with Much Additional Material and Many New Illustrations Anna Botsford Comstock, 1911

Urban Galapagos Thomas Kvan, Justyna Karakiewicz, 2018-11-09 This book addresses the future of urbanisation on the Galapagos Islands from a systems governance and design perspective with the competing parameters of liveability economic and ecological using the Galapagos as a laboratory for the theoretical and postulative understanding of evolving settlement and habitation The Galapagos islands are one of the world's most examined and reported examples of a series of naturally evolving ecosystems The biodiversity of these island ecosystems are the focus of tourism and the image across the world yet human settlement are part of the local ecology While human intervention is limited the islands are a distinctive context in which to consider the impact of human habitation as a part of our ecosystems In this book authors take the framework of complex adaptive systems CAS in which to model systems that grow and evolve the relations between these various sectors change systems that get more complex as they evolve Tested and applied discretely in the two realms of natural and urban for the first time this text will bring the two together in understanding options for the future of urban settlements on the Galapagos Islands and by extension consider how the approach can be used globally in other contexts
