The Cambridge Companion to Thucydides Polly Low, 2023-03-09 A wide ranging introduction to one of the earliest and most influential works in the western historical tradition

The Early Martyr Narratives Éric Rebillard, 2020-11-27 From Eusebius of Caesarea who first compiled a collection of martyr narratives around 300 to Thierry Ruinart whose Acta primorum martyrum sincera et selecta was published in 1689 the selection and study of early hagiographic narratives has been founded on an assumption that there existed documents written at the time of martyrdom or very close to it As a result a search for authenticity has been and continues to be central even in the context of today's secular scholarship But as Eric Rebillard contends the alternative approach to set aside entirely the question of the historical reliability of martyr narratives is not satisfactory either Instead he argues that martyr narratives should be considered as fluid living texts written anonymously and received by audiences not as precise historical reports but as versions of the story In other words the form these texts took between fact and fiction made it possible for audiences to readily accept the historicity of the martyr while at the same time not expect to hear or read a truthful account In The Early Martyr Narratives Rebillard considers only accounts of Christian martyrs supposed to have been executed before 260 and only those whose existence is attested in sources that can be dated to before 300 The resulting small corpus contains no texts in the form of legal protocols traditionally viewed as the earliest most official and authentic records nor does it include any that can be dated to a period during which persecution of Christians is known to have taken place Rather than deduce from this that they are forgeries written for the sake of polemic or apologetic Rebillard demonstrates how the literariness of the narratives creates a fictional complicity that challenges and complicates any claims of these narratives to be truthful

Greek Notions of the Past in the Archaic and Classical Eras John Marincola, 2012-07-31 This volume in The Edinburgh Leventis Studies series collects the papers presented at the sixth A G Leventis conference It engages with new research and new approaches to the Greek past and

Timaeus of Tauromenium and Hellenistic Historiography

Christopher A. Baron, 2013 Timaeus of Tauromenium 350 260 BC wrote the authoritative work on the Greeks in the Western Mediterranean and was important through his research into chronology and his influence on Roman historiography Like almost all the Hellenistic historians however his work survives only in fragments This book provides an up to date study of his work and shows that both the nature of the evidence and modern assumptions about historical writing in the Hellenistic period have skewed our treatment and judgement of lost historians For Timaeus much of our evidence is preserved in the polemical context of Polybius Book 12 When we move outside that framework and examine the fragments of Timaeus in their proper context we gain a greater appreciation for his method and his achievement including his use of polemical invective and his composition of speeches This has important implications for our broader understanding of the major lines of Hellenistic historiography
