Green Equilibrium The Vital Balance Of Humans And Nature:

Green Equilibrium Christopher Wills,2013-03-28 In Green Equilibrium Christopher Wills explains the rules by which ecosystems maintain a diversity of interdependent species in particular the balance of predators and prey Wills is both an eminent academic and a hugely experienced field biologist In presenting the concept of green equilibrium he draws on a fascinating range of examples including coral reefs off the densely populated Philippines the isolated and densely forested valleys of Papua New Guinea the changing Himalayan kingdom of Bhutan and a Californian ranch being allowed to return to a wild state In each case he assesses the impact of modern changes and attempts at conservation on these delicately balanced ecosystems Wills shows how human populations too are an integral part of the picture We now know from genetic evidence that over the course of history as humans spread out of Africa populations adapted as a result of environmental conditions Striking new evidence indicates that some human populations carry genes from past encounters with other hominids Neanderthals and Denisovans as well as genetic adaptations to local hazards such as malaria Wills argues that the most effective approaches to conserving green equilibria come out of evolutionary insights and from close involvement of the local communities who have lived and adapted to them

Moonstruck Ernest Naylor,2015-09-24 Throughout history the influence of the full Moon on humans and animals has featured in folklore and myths Yet it has become increasingly apparent that many organisms really are influenced indirectly and in some cases directly by the lunar cycle Breeding behaviour among some marine animals has been demonstrated to be controlled by internal circalunar biological clocks to the point where lunar daily and lunar monthly patterns of Moon generated tides are embedded in their genes Yet intriguingly Moon related behaviours are also found in dry land and fresh water species living far beyond the influence of any tides In Moonstruck Ernest Naylor dismisses the myths concerning the influence of the Moon but shows through a range of fascinating examples the remarkable real effects that we are now finding through science He suggests that since the advent of evolution on Earth which occurred shortly after the formation of the Moon animals evolved adaptations to the lunar cycle and considers whether if Moon clock genes occur in other animals they also might exist in us Ocean Worlds Jan Zalasiewicz, Mark Williams, 2014-10-23 Oceans make up most of the surface of our blue planet They may form just a sliver on the outside of the Earth but they are very important not only in hosting life including the fish and other animals on which many humans depend but in terms of their role in the Earth system in regulating climate and cycling nutrients As climate change pollution and over exploitation by humans puts this precious resource at risk it is more important than ever that we understand and appreciate the nature and history of oceans There is much we still do not know about the story of the Earth's oceans and we are only just beginning to find indications of oceans on other planets In this book geologists Jan Zalasiewicz and Mark Williams consider the deep history of oceans how and when they may have formed on the young Earth topics of intense current research how they became salty and how they evolved through Earth history We learn how oceans have formed and disappeared over millions of years how the sea nurtured life and what may become of our oceans in the future We encounter some of the scientists and adventurers whose efforts led to our present understanding of oceans And we look at clues to possible seas that may once have covered parts of Mars and Venus that may still exist below the surface on moons such as Europa and Callisto and the possibility of watery planets in other star systems Biopolitica ed ecologia Andrea Angelini, 2021 La riflessione sullo statuto epistemologico e sul funzionamento politico del discorso biologico nel suo carattere eterogeneo plurale e conflittuale un tema centrale nelle opere di Michel Foucault e Georges Canguilhem A partire dall'analisi delle relazioni e delle tensioni tra i loro orientamenti teorici questo studio propone una rilettura critica delle loro ricerche integrandole e utilizzandole nei dibattiti epistemologici e politici contemporanei In tal senso la filosofia biologica di Canguilhem permette di riesaminare la concezione foucaultiana della storia della società della soggettività della tecnica dell'ambiente e di reinterrogare in una prospettiva socio ecologica ed eco storica lo spazio d'intervento delle tecnologie biopolitiche Religion and Sexuality in Cross-Cultural Perspective Stephen Ellingson, M. Christian Green, 2014-03-18 Issues of sexuality and gender are hotly contested in both religious communities and national cultures around the world In the social sciences religious traditions are often depicted as inherently conservative or even reactionary in their commitments to powerful patriarchal and pronatalist sexual norms and gender categories In illuminating the practices of religious traditions in various cultures these essays expose the diversity of religious rituals and mythologies pertaining to sexuality In the process the contributors challenge conventional notions of what is normative in our sexual lives ICIE 2016 Proceedings of the 4th International Conference on Innovation and Entrepreneurship Dr Kenneth A. Proceedings of the NDIEAS-2024 International Symposium on New Dimensions and Ideas in Environmental Anthropology-2024 (NDIEAS 2024) Tulishree Pradhan,Amareswar Galla,Maria Stoicheva,Amitabh Pandey,2024-06-12

This is an open access book NDIEAS 2024 Discussions on environmental challenges frequently center around human dependence susceptibility and resilience Yet the subject matter of the present anthropological discussion regarding the ecological framework would mainly concentrate on spatial advertising and scientific investigation In this symposium the focus will be expanded to include human anthropology as a fundamental element of the political notion of environmental sustainability and the foundation for effective local national and global actions Humanity s survival entirely depends on the environment However we further rely on sociopolitical and legal frameworks which are open to capture misdirection confusion With this viewpoint in mind the panel discussion will look at how neoliberalism both international and national legal and political frameworks and other factors have influenced how we perceive the world around us It is going to capitalize on environmental anthropology s observations as well as additional crucial elements to evaluate the spread of sustainable solutions to environmental issues and look at the ways in which forces like globalization and technological advancement might give people a false sense of invulnerability While significant the assumptions of mitigation as well as adaptation require as well to be looked into The expansion of industries greater manufacturing and consumerism are goals of globalization and another neoliberal socio economic reconfiguration which has a tendency to encourage human abuse of the environment and reduce our ability to respond to issues related to the environment The Sustainable City V A.

Gospodini,C. A. Brebbia,Enzo Tiezzi,2008 of the present without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own needs In The Sustainable City V many interrelated aspects of the urban environment from transport and mobility to social exclusions and crime prevention are addressed The papers included were originally presented at the Fifth International Conference on Urban Regeneration and Sustainability and will be of interest to city planners architects environmental engineers and all academics professionals and practitioners working in the wide range of disciplines associated with creating a viable urban environment In this book the papers are published under the following topics

Architectural issues Cultural heritage Energy resources systems Environmental management Healthy cities Indicators ecological economic social Land use and management Mega cities Planning issues Planning development and management Public safety Revitalisation strategies Socio economic issues Spatial modelling Strategy Sustainable transportation and transport integration The community and the city Traffic and transportation Urban rural relationships Water Crises and Sustainable Management in the Global South Sylvester Chibueze Izah, Matthew Chidozie Ogwu, Athanasios Loukas, Hossein Hamidifar, 2024 Zusammenfassung This book is a reference material on how to sustainably manage water crises The causes and effects of water crises under different regions in the Global South are explored in this book Approaches for the sustainable management of water crises are also highlighted in the book especially in the Global South where the level of technologies available for sustainable management of water are limited Water crisis is a global problem but with disproportionate higher consequences in the Global South About 25% of the global population resides in water stressed countries and about 10% of the world population lives in areas with high water vulnerability Furthermore many millions of people across the globe lack access to potable water supplies As such many people could be displaced by water crises or scarcity shortly The effects of the water crisis on the environment include increased salinity nutrient pollution the loss of floodplains the drying of riverbeds the loss of habitat wetlands disappearing and ecosystem loss On the human level it could lead to disease outbreaks drought famine and death This may have more severe effects in countries in the Global South as compared to nations in the Global North This is because the water cycle is very intense in Asia and Africa which are important areas in the Global South This book is of interest and useful to aquatic toxicologists water quality experts practitioners trainees and trainers environmentalists biological sciences scientists academics researchers students especially undergraduates and postgraduates libraries and other public knowledge repositories interested in novel and advanced practices in sustainable water management Religion, Heritage and the Sustainable City Yamini

Narayanan, 2014-10-10 The speed and scale of urbanisation in India is unprecedented almost anywhere in the world and has tremendous global implications The religious influence on the urban experience has resonances for all aspects of urban sustainability in India and yet it remains a blind spot while articulating sustainable urban policy This book explores the historical and on going influence of religion on urban planning design space utilisation urban identities and communities It argues that the conceptual and empirical approaches to planning sustainable cities in India need to be developed out of analytical concepts that define local sense of place and identity Examining how Hindu religious heritage beliefs and religiously influenced planning practices have impacted on sustainable urbanisation development in Jaipur and Indian cities in general the book identifies the challenges and opportunities that ritualistic and belief resources pose for sustainability It focuses on three key aspects spatial segregation and ghettoisation gender inclusive urban development and the nexus between religion nature and urban development This cutting edge book is one of the first case studies linking Hindu religion heritage urban development women and the environment in a way that responds to the realities of Indian cities It opens up discussion on the nexus of religion and development drawing out insightful policy implications for the sustainable urban planning of many cities in India and elsewhere in South Asia and the developing world Vegetables and their Allied as Protective Food M.K. Nervous Conditions Elizabeth Green Musselman, 2012-02-01 Nervous Conditions explores the role of the body in the development of modern science challenging the myth that modern science is built on a bedrock of objectivity and confident empiricism In this fascinating look into the private world of British natural philosophers including John Dalton Lord Kelvin Charles Babbage John Herschel and many others Elizabeth Green Musselman shows how the internal workings of their bodies played an important part in the sciences movement to the center of modern life and how a scientific community and a nation struggled their way into existence Many of these natural philosophers endured serious nervous difficulties particularly vision problems They turned these weaknesses into strengths however by claiming that their well disciplined mental skills enabled them to transcend their bodily frailties Their adeptness at transcendence they asserted explained why men of science belonged at the heart of modern life and qualified them to address such problems as unifying the British provinces into one nation managing the industrial workplace and accommodating religious plurality
