advances and developments in the diagnosis and treatment of patients with infectious and immune mediated disorders The Manual features detailed descriptions of general and specific methodologies placing special focus on the interpretation of laboratory findings and covers the immunology of infectious diseases including specific pathogens as well as the full range of autoimmune and immunodeficiency diseases cancer and transplantation Written to guide the laboratory director the Manual will also appeal to other laboratory scientists especially those working in clinical immunology laboratories and pathologists It is also a useful reference for physicians mid level providers medical students and allied health students with an interest in the role that immunology plays in the clinical laboratory

Neuroparasitology and Tropical Neurology Patricia P.

Wilkins,2013-07-03 The nature of many parasitic infections of the central nervous system CNS requires immunodiagnosis to confirm presumptive diagnoses The CNS is the primary site of parasite infection for some parasitic organisms and for others neurological infection occurs only in immunocompromised hosts Still other parasites cause ectopic infections of the CNS and occur very rarely This review concentrates on laboratory diagnosis of diseases that are caused by parasites with a primary predilection for the CNS Emphasis is placed on laboratory diagnostic methods that are used and suitable for clinical diagnosis rather than a comprehensive review of all the experimental methods that have been reported in the literature Immunodiagnosis is not appropriate for the diagnosis of all parasitic infections of the CNS in those cases alternative diagnostic methods are presented but not discussed in detail In some instances potential new antigens or methods are presented particularly if adoption of these methods is expected in the near future
