Michael Heizer: The Once and Future Monuments William L. Fox, 2019-09-24 The most comprehensive account available of Michael Heizer's art by a writer and curator who has critical experience with the artist and his work Michael Heizer is among the greatest and often least accessible American artists As one of the last living figures who launched the Land Art movement his legacy of works that are literally and metaphorically monumental has an incalculable influence on the world of sculpture and environmental art But his seclusion in the remote Nevada desert as well as his notorious obduracy have resulted in significant gaps in our critical understanding Michael Heizer The Once and Future Monuments spans the breadth of Heizer's career uniquely combining fieldwork personal narrative and biographical research to create the first major assessment in years of this titan of American art Author William L. Fox founding director of the Center for Art Environment at the Nevada Museum of Art has alternately been a sponsor advocate and critic of Heizer's work for decades Fox's understanding of the artist's history and connection to landscape his time spent with Heizer at the remote ranch where Heizer is finishing his magnum opus the mile long sculpture City and his access to some of Heizer's key associates give him a unique position from which to discuss the artist's work Fox has also made numerous site visits to Heizer's work including early pieces in the Nevada desert now largely lost to the elements to correct the often inconsistent accounts of their locations Last Fox imparts a crucial new understanding of Heizer's work by elaborating on the artist's bond with his father the famed archaeologist and cultural ecologist Robert Heizer who enlisted his son on important digs in Mexico and Peru providing the young man with an appreciation of site landscape and geology that would thoroughly inform his work Michael Heizer The Once and Future Monuments is a long overdue addition to the critical and biographical literature of this major figure in American art

Choice, 2009 The Museum of the Future Karl Borromäus Murr, 2024-09-09 Peter Sloterdijk sees our digitalized world in a growing spatial crisis accompanied by the danger of a general virtuality of all relationships Others view the digitalization of the world as opening up a grassroots democratic space that allows everyone access to culture Against this backdrop this anthology examines the spatial characteristics of the museum between physical place and virtual space The chapters collected here approach the museum space from various disciplinary perspectives such as philosophy history art history architecture scenography museum education and curatorial studies At the same time the contributions by international museum experts are assigned to different literary genres fundamental considerations alternate with think pieces case studies and interviews

The User Perspective on Twenty-First-Century Art Museums Georgia Lindsay, 2016-04-14. The User Perspective on Twenty-First-Century Art Museums explains contemporary museums from the whole gamut of user experiences, whether users are preserving art, creating an exhibit, visiting, or part of institutions that use the architecture for branding. Fourteen museums from the United States, Europe, China, and Australia represent new construction, repurposed buildings, and additions, offering examples for most museum design situations. Each is examined using interviews with key stakeholders, photographs, and analyses of press coverage to identify lessons from the main user groups. User groups vary from project to project depending on conditions and context, so each of the four parts of the book features a summary of the users and issues in that section for quick reference. The book concludes with a practical, straightforward lessons learned summary and a critical assessment of twenty-first-century museum architecture, programming, and expectations to help you embark on a new building design. Architects, architecture students, museum professionals, and aficionados of museum design will all find helpful insights in these lessons and critiques.

Contemporary Approaches to Commemorative Public Art Brenda Schmähmann, 2025-06-12. In this collection, a diverse range of international contributors examine commemorative monuments from the late twentieth and twenty-first centuries. The book reveals how those monuments enable new perspectives and understanding of histories as well as a heightened involvement of viewers through not simply their subject matter but also, most crucially, their actual form and design. While some contributors explore new approaches to the art of commemoration that artists and designers have deployed in recent monuments, others examine how artists have undertaken creative engagements with historical statuary and sites using these interventions to offer critique and commentary. Additionally, the contributions consider the impact of political change on ways in which an inherited commemorative landscape is interpreted and negotiated. Questions considered by the contributions include: How might new monuments be shaped and how might they function differently from those of the past? Is there a place for portraiture in the contemporary commemorative landscape? Should commemorative monuments be envisaged as permanent fixtures or are temporary approaches more viable? How effectively have artists disrupted the meanings of historical monuments and sites through installation, performance, video, and other media? How has political change played out at historical sites affecting how commemorative monuments from prior dispensations are understood in the 2020s This collection will be of value to researchers in Art History Visual Studies and Heritage Studies as well as scholars in all disciplines and fields who are interested in public art public memory and the politics of commemoration Louisa Matthiasdottir Louisa Matthíasdóttir, Vigdís Finnbogadóttir, 1999 Immersion in the creative ferment of Reykjavik in the 1930s when artists and writers were bringing modernist ideals to the land of the Sagas Art, Space, Ecology Grande John K. Grande, 2019-10-15 In Art Space Ecology internationally renowned curator and critic John K Grande interviews twenty major contemporary artists whose works engage with the natural environment Whether their medium is sculpture nature interventions performance body art or installation these discussions complemented by eighty stunning photographs reveal the artists diverse backgrounds and methods expressions and realizations Ultimately the natural world serves as a canvas to explore the intersections of art space and the environment thereby raising questions about our relationship with landscape itself The essence of the art form is a dynamic interactivity and the dialogues between Grande and the artists mirror the encounter of object and environment artist and audience society and nature This work is rounded out with an engaging introduction by writer and curator Edward Lucie Smith who sets the stage for some of the most insightful and compelling discussions on art to be found New York Magazine, 1989-09-25 New York magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an
