Teaching About Dialect Variations and Language in Secondary English Classrooms Michelle D.

Devereaux, 2014-10-17 Standardized tests demand Standard English but secondary students grades 6 12 come to school speaking a variety of dialects and languages thus creating a conflict between students language of nurture and the expectations of school The purpose of this text is twofold to explain and illustrate how language varieties function in the classroom and in students lives and to detail linguistically informed instructional strategies Through anecdotes from the classroom lesson plans and accessible narrative it introduces theory and clearly builds the bridge to daily classroom practices that respect students language varieties and use those varieties as strengths upon which secondary English teachers can build The book explains how to teach about language variations and ideologies in the classroom uses typically taught texts as models for exploring how power society and identity interact with language literature and students lives connects the Common Core State Standards to the concepts presented and offers strategies to teach the sense and structure of Standard English and other language variations so that all students may add Standard English to their linguistic toolboxes

Rhetorical Crossover Cedric Burrows, 2020-10-27 In music crossover means that a song has moved beyond its original genre and audience into the general social consciousness Rhetorical Crossover uses the same concept to theorize how the black rhetorical presence has moved in mainstream spaces in an era where African Americans were becoming more visible in white culture Cedric Burrows argues that when black rhetoric moves into the dominant culture white audiences appear welcoming to African Americans as long as they present an acceptable form of blackness for white tastes The predominant culture has always constructed coded narratives on how the black rhetorical presence should appear and behave when in majority spaces In response African Americans developed their own narratives that revise and reinvent mainstream narratives while also reaffirming their humanity Using an interdisciplinary model built from music education film and social movement studies Rhetorical Crossover details the dueling narratives about African Americans that percolate throughout the United States
