Ordinary Missionary W. Jay Moon, Pamela A. Moon, Emily G. Moon, 2012-08-01 I am not like Hudson Taylor David Livingstone or William Carey The stories of these people are inspiring but they also make me question Am I really good enough to be a missionary Because I don't consider myself super spiritual like these missionary heroes seem to be Ordinary Missionary introduces world missions through the story of an ordinary family facing ordinary questions about their own insecurities and inadequacies Step into the shoes of three authors who combine their thoughts to put a face a feeling and a person to contemporary missions Join Jay husband and father as he prepares to minister among the Builsa people in Ghana West Africa Observe Pam wife and mother as she addresses the personal concerns of the family Follow Emily oldest daughter in the struggles and joys of being a missionary kid This story is not a triumphant tale of missionary heroes The real heroes show up in unlikely places when they are least expected Our steps are ordinary but the journey is beyond extraordinary These real stories will inspire you to trust your own life in the hands of our extraordinary God

This qualitative study explores intercultural social dynamics among international Christian workers who are part of multicultural teams engaged in Christian ministries in a North African country It seeks to understand these workers lived realities at intersections of multiple cultural flows Ethnographic methods were used to collect and analyze data and forty nine international Christian workers were interviewed The findings of this study indicate that intercultural Christian workers go through complex intercultural social processes interwoven in the fabric of their everyday life These processes are mediated by their social experiences in the local North African context and their multicultural teams resulting in significant changes in their personal dispositions and social behaviors Based on these findings a working concept of diasporic habitus is developed and the practice of double discourses of culture is further examined This research suggests that some existing missiological concepts need to be revisited and recommends further interdisciplinary conversations involving cultural anthropology and sub fields in psychology about the changes that happen to people in intercultural missions It also calls for a reflexive approach to missiological research that incorporates awareness of one's situatedness and the lasting impact of historical entanglements on contemporary intercultural relations The Language Game Thomas Edward Dutton, Malcolm

Missiology and the Social Sciences Edward Rommen, Gary Corwin, 1996-09-15 Missiology and the Social Sciences Contributions Cautions and Conclusions Missiology draws from several sources These include God s revelation in Holy Scripture historical creeds and theology past and present missionary experiences and various social sciences that help us to understand diverse cultural and religious dynamics But how exactly do these sources relate to one another How do we balance and prioritize the contributions of each Missiology and the Social Sciences answer these questions with scholarly care On the one hand it s unthinkable that missionaries would not use the social sciences such as anthropology and linguistics How else would we translate the Bible and learn about other cultures On the other hand some writers warn of the subtle danger that social sciences could undermine biblical authority Cultural bias also might affect social science research and hinder our ability to discern what God is doing around us The contributors in this book help readers understand the debate and its many practical implications It equips missionaries to engage the social sciences in more thoughtful ways that can bear gospel fruit

Watson, 2018-02-19 Juba Arabic is an Arabic creole closely related to Kinubi It began developing in the Equatoria Region of what is now South Sudan over 100 years ago and spread widely now being the spoken lingua franca of the region It has become so well established that expatriates working in Equatoria often find themselves in situations in which neither English nor Khartoum colloquial Arabic is adequate for communication Juba Arabic for Beginners was originally prepared by SIL as a language course for the communication needs of its own personnel but other people needing to communicate in Juba have found it invaluable The present course was adapted from the excellent Sudanese Colloquial Arabic for Beginners Andrew and Janet Persson with Ahmad Hussein in general format with its 30 dialogues However due to important linguistic and cultural differences five additional lessons relevant to southern culture are included This course is written in a Romanized orthography and represents a widespread dialect of Juba Arabic Over the past 30 years the course has served and continues to serve personnel of a number of expatriate organizations
