Lasting Light 125 Years Of Grand Canyon Photography:

Lasting Light Stephen Trimble, 2006 One of the most photographed subjects on earth the Grand Canyon continues to inspire awe and admiration This text includes captivating essays from 21 Grand Canyon photographers 115 photos Inspired Photography The Editors of Photopreneur, 2010 Inspired Photography is Canyon Guide Bruce Grubbs, 2010-03-05 packed with creative ideas to enable any photographer from enthusiast to professional to push their work in new directions Divided into actions city scenes the great outdoors inspiring images and photographic subjects the book describes 189 sources of inspiration that stimulate creativity and help photographers get more from their passion You ll discover New subjects to shoot in the city the countryside the center and the suburbs Original ideas to build on and personalize Long term projects that will keep you and your photography inspired for months Quick ideas for instant photographic fun Concepts styles approaches and techniques that you ve never considered with suggestions to get started and resources for further research And much much more Filled with practical suggestions and exciting ideas Inspired Photography helps to keep your explorations in photography fresh challenging and always creative The Grand Canyon Reader Lance Newman, 2011-10-24 This superb anthology brings together some of the most powerful and compelling writing about the Grand Canyon stories essays and poems written across five centuries by people inhabiting surviving and attempting to understand what one explorer called the Great Unknown The Grand Canyon Reader includes traditional stories from native tribes reports by explorers journals by early tourists and contemporary essays and stories by such beloved writers as John McPhee Ann Zwinger Edward Abbey Terry Tempest Williams Barry Lopez Linda Hogan and Craig Childs Lively tales written by unschooled river runners unabashedly popular fiction and memoirs stand alongside finely crafted literary works to represent full range of human experience in this wild daunting and inspiring landscape The Emerald Mile Kevin Fedarko, 2014-07 The epic story of the fastest boat ride in history on a hand built dory named the Emerald Mile through the heart of the Grand Framing Nature Yolonda Youngs, 2024-06 Winner of the 2024 John Brinkerhoff Jackson Canyon on the Colorado river Prize from American Association of Geographers The Grand Canyon of the Colorado River is an internationally known feature of the North American landscape attracting more than five million visitors each year A deep cultural visual and social history has shaped the Grand Canyon's environment into one of America's most significant representations of nature Yet the canyon is more than a vacation destination a movie backdrop or a scenic viewpoint it is a real place as well as an abstraction easily summoned in the minds of Americans The Grand Canyon or the idea of it is woven into the fabric of American cultural identity and serves as a cultural reference point an icon In Framing Nature Yolonda Youngs traces the idea of the Grand Canyon as an icon and the ways people came to know it through popular imagery and visual media She analyzes and interprets more than fourteen hundred visual artifacts including postcards maps magazine illustrations and photographs of the Grand Canyon supplemented with the words and ideas of writers artists explorers and other media makers from 1869 to 2022 Youngs considers the manipulation and commodification of visual representations and shifting ideas values and meanings of nature exploring the interplay between humans and their environments and how visual representations shape popular ideas and meanings about national parks and the American West Framing Nature provides a novel interpretation of how places especially national parks are transformed into national and environmental symbols A Walk in the Park Kevin Fedarko, 2024-05-28 Two friends zero preparation one dream An account of the epic misadventure of a 750 mile odyssey on foot through the heart of America's most magnificent national park and the grandest wilderness on earth Not. So Golden State Char Miller, 2016-08-22 In Not So Golden State leading environmental historian Char Miller looks below the surface of California's ecological history to expose some of its less glittering conundrums In this necessary work Miller asks tough questions as we stand at the edge of a human induced natural disaster in the region and beyond He details policy steps and missteps in public land management and examines the impact of recreation on national forests parks and refuges assessing efforts to restore wild land habitat riparian ecosystems and endangered species Why during a devastating five year drought is the Central Valley's agribusiness still irrigating its fields as if it were business as usual What's unusual Miller reveals is that northern counties rich in groundwater sell it off to make millions while draining their aguifers toward eventual mud Why when contemporary debate over oil and gas drilling questions reasonable practices are extractive industries targeting Chaco Canyon National Historic Park and its ancient sites which are of inestimable value to Native Americans How do we begin to understand local a concept of hope for modern environmentalism After all Miller says what we define as local determines how we might act in its defense To inhabit a place requires placed based analyses whatever the geographic scope examinations rooted in a precise physical reality To make a conscientious life in a suburb floodplain fire zone or coastline requires a heightened awareness of these landscapes past so that we can develop an intensified responsibility for their present condition and future prospects Building a more robust sense of justice is the key to creating resilient habitable and equitable communities Miller turns to Aldo Leopold's insight that all history consists of successive excursions from a single starting point a location humans return to again and again to organize another search for a durable scale of values This quest a reflection of our ambition to know ourselves in relation to time and space to organize our energy and structure our insights is as inevitable as it is unending Turning his focus to the tensions along the California coastline Miller ponders the activities of whale watching and gazing at sea otters thinking about the implications of the human desire to protect endangered flora and fauna which makes the shoreline a fraught landscape and a source of endless stories about the past and present In the Los Angeles region these connections are more obvious given its geography The San Gabriel Mountains rise sharply above the valleys below offering some of the steepest relief on the planet Three major river systems the Santa Ana San Gabriel and Los Angeles cut through the range's sheer canyons carrying an astonishing amount of debris that once crashed into low lying areas with churning force Today the rivers are constrained by flood control dams and channels Major wildfires sparked by annual drought high heat and fierce Santa Ana winds move at lightning speed and force thousands to flee The city s legendary smog whose origins lie in car culture was fueled in part by oil brought to the region s surface in the late nineteenth century It left Angelenos gasping for breath as climatic conditions turned exhaust into a toxic ozone layer trapped by the mountains that back in the day were hard to see Clearing the befouled skies took decades Every bit as complex is the enduring effort to regenerate riparian health and restore wildlife habitat in a concrete hardened landscape The emerging tensions are similar to those threading through the U S Forest Service's management of the Angeles National Forest exacerbated whenever a black bear ambles into a nearby subdivision How we build ourselves into these spaces depends on the removal of competing users or uses a historic strawberry patch gives way to a housing development a memorial forest goes up in smoke a small creek tells a larger tale of the human impress and struggles over water a perennial issue in this dry land remind us we re not as free of the past as we d like to think Neither are we removed from the downwind consequences of our choice to live in fire's path The West does not burn every summer it just seems that way And not every fire is a smoke signal of distress Picking through the region's fiery terrain is as tricky as trying to extinguish a roaring blaze in the August heat There are lessons to be had by examining how we respond to the annual conflagrations The Wallow Fire which in 2011 burned hundreds of thousands of acres in remote Arizona sparked equal amounts of political grandstanding and hand wringing about wildfire fighting strategies Beyond the headlines and flashy smoke filled images lay another reality The creation of defensible space and the thinning of forests communities signs of homeowners and state and federal agencies proactive intervention meant few structures burned during the monthlong firestorm That such good news is rarely reported is part and parcel of another ethical dilemma too rarely acknowledged the decision to live in fire zones should come coupled with homeowners responsibility to do all they can to ensure their homes don't go up in smoke How they build their homes and landscape its environs are essential steps in defending their space That obligation comes with another made clear in the 2013 Yarnell Hill which took the lives of nineteen firefighters To make our houses fire safe is to give firefighters a fighting chance This reciprocity and the social compact it depends on require us to believe we inhabit common ground with our neighbors a realization that should build a stronger sense of community But it s a tough concept to promote in a bewilderingly antisocial political environment when budgets for fire prevention are slashed as part of larger efforts to defund the nation state Or when the very reasons some seek to live in isolated mountainous environs clash with the larger need to act in concert with their communities Fires illuminate many things not least the ties that bind and those that are frayed Miller develops his argument from a variety of places and perspectives Most of the pieces ask a series of questions about a particular landscape Gila National Forest Death Valley Zion Arches and Rocky Mountain National Parks and a host of other iconic western scenic spots Why do we conceive of wilderness as a preserve separate and inviolate Who benefits or does not from the idea that such landscapes are or ought to be untrammeled Why has this intellectual construction and the preservationist ethos it depends on come to dominate contemporary environmentalism Related queries bubble up after Miller spends time in the newest national park Pinnacles in central California or one of the most venerable the Grand Canyon in northern Arizona What impact has the long history of tourism and recreation had on these public lands Maintaining trails that weave through the Yosemite Valley is an arduous incessant task made more difficult by the visitors pouring in to John Muir's favorite terrain or rushing to rock climb in Minerva Hoyt's beloved Joshua Tree Still more daunting is the prospect of sustained ecological restoration and habitat regeneration under current conditions and those that climate change is generating across the West Once again Aldo Leopold can be a guide A member of a biotic team is shown by an ecological interpretation of history he once observed adding that many historical events hitherto explained solely in terms of human enterprise were actually biotic interactions between people and land Only when the concept of land as a community really penetrates our intellectual life will history as a subject and methodology become fully realized Not So Golden State contributes powerfully toward the realization of this enduring cross generational endeavor Bargaining for Eden Stephen Trimble, 2008-07-28 While open spaces in America are rapidly being destroyed as a result of greed hubris and neglect Stephen Trimble's Bargaining for Eden is a powerful call for us to more earnestly consider our solemn obligations as stewards of the Earth Combining remarkable investigative research with his skills as a poignant essayist Trimble has favored us with an extraordinary account that inspires as it challenges our values our commitment to action and our sense of connection with place community and the essence of who we are as inhabitants of this wondrous planet Rocky Anderson Former Mayor of Salt Lake City From Hetch Hetchy to Glen Canyon we mourn the sacred places in the west that have been bargained away for the American dream Stephen Trimble eloquently shows that these are not just conflicts over land but choices over which American dream we pursue as a nation What moves us to act What do we really value How shall we live together In this mature and poignant book Trimble urges passion and self awareness and reminds us that no conflict arises totally outside of oneself all of the things we fear in others may be possible in ourselves Peter Forbes Director Center for Whole Communities With this masterwork Stephen Trimble has given us the most reasoned and moving account of how and why the West becomes developed and its lands fragmented Rather than merely pointing the finger at developers or passive staffers in federal agencies he places the development issue in a larger cultural context asking us all to be full participants in the choices about how our lands and waters are ultimately managed As wise as it is heartbreaking Trimble s story challenges us to sign on to supporting a new ethics of land use in the West that will keep such tragedies from occurring so frequently in the future Gary Nabhan author of Renewing America's Food Traditions and Cultures of Habitat With Bargaining for Eden Stephen Trimble has given us both a piece of dogged investigative journalism and a soul searching confessional The shocking largely unreported story of Earl Holding and the Snowbasin land swap becomes in Trimble's heartfelt prose a metaphor for the way land is used and abused in the West But Stephen doesn't stop with the expos He weaves it into a thoughtful and thought provoking reverie on man's place in an increasingly threatened landscape We are all part of the problem And he writes hopefully we can with honest effort become part of the solution Peter Shelton author of Climb to Conquer The Untold Story of WWII s 10th Mountain Division Ski Troops Make no mistake Bargaining for Eden is a brave and important book It s a page turner of a story about powerful men unspeakable wealth and Olympic gold medal mountains But it s also a Jungle in the tradition of Upton Sinclair a disturbing story of how politics and capitalism worked hand in hand against the common good and our commonweal of wildlands If we are ever to learn how to live on the land and at the same time protect its heart maybe we can start here in Trimble's beloved Utah mountains Kathleen Dean Moore author of The Pine Island Paradox
