Late For The Sky The Mentality Of The Space Age:

Late for the Sky David Lavery, 1992 The chapter titles are intriguing To Hear Us Talk Due Back on the Planet Earth Toward a Definition of Spaciness Departure of the Body Snatchers or the Confessions of a Carbon Chauvinist Infinite Presumption The Simulator and The Abandoned Earth Through these chapters and through Probes with titles such as Gnosticism in the Cult Film and Space Boosters The Marketing of Unearthliness Lavery seeks to track the path of what Arendt calls the twofold flight from the Earth into the universe and from the world into self a flight that in our time and especially in America would seem to have attained escape velocity BOOK JACKET Critical Issues in the History of Spaceflight Stephen J. Dick, Steven J. Dick, Roger D. Launius, 2006 In March 2005 the NASA History Division and the Division of Space History at the National Air and Space Museum brought together a distinguished group of scholars to consider the state of the discipline of space history This volume is a collection of essays based on those deliberations The meeting took place at a time of extraordinary transformation for NASA stemming from the new Vision of Space Exploration announced by President George W Bush in January 2004 to go to the Moon Mars and beyond This Vision in turn stemmed from a deep reevaluation of NASA's goals in the wake of the Space Shuttle Columbia accident and the recommendations of the Columbia Accident Investigation Board The new goals were seen as initiating a New Age of Exploration and were placed in the context of the importance of exploration and discovery to the American experiences Amazon This Thing of Ours David Lavery, 2002 As a work of popular culture an innovative television series and a media phenomenon The Sopranos has made an impact throughout the world This text investigates both the wide appeal and controversial reception of this highly debated drama Beginning Again David Ehrenfeld, 1993 Early in this volume David Ehrenfeld describes what prophecy really is Referring to the biblical prophets he says they were not the holy fortunetellers that the word prophet has come to signify The business of prophecy is not simply foretelling the future rather it is describing the present with exceptional truthfulness and accuracy Once this is done then it can be seen that broad aspects of the future have suddenly become apparent The twentieth century is drawing to a chaotic close amidst portents of unprecedented change and upheaval The unravelling of societies and civilizations and the destruction of nature march together linked a fact whose enormous significance is often lost In Beginning Again David Ehrenfeld has undertaken the difficult task of describing the present clearly enough to reveal the future Out of his broad vision emerges a glimpse of a new millennium a vision at once frightening and comforting a scene of great devastation and great rebuilding Ehrenfeld ranges far and wide to present a coherent vision of our relationship with Nature its many aspects and implications as our century opens into the next millennium Whether he is writing about the problem of loyalty to organizations rights versus obligations our over managed society the vanishing of established knowledge the failure of experts the triumph of dandelions Dr Seuss Edward Teller or the future of farming he is always concerned with the intricate interaction between technology and nature As in his classic book The Arrogance of Humanism

Ehrenfeld never loses sight of our fatal love affair with the fantasy of control We now have no choice he argues but to transform the dream of control of progress from one of overweening hubris love of consumption and the idiot's goal of perpetual growth to one based on the inventive imitation of nature with its honesty beauty resilience and durability Few American writers and even fewer scientists can describe these timeless transcendent qualities of nature so well In Places the opening chapter David Ehrenfeld tells about nightly vigils he spent alone on the moonlit beach of Tortuguero watching giant sea turtles emerging from the sea to lay their eggs in the black sand where they were born I could watch the perfect white spheres falling he writes Falling as they have fallen for a hundred million years with the same slow cadence always shielded from the rain or stars by the same massive bulk with the beaked head and the same large myopic eyes rimmed with crusts of sand washed out by tears Minutes and hours days and months dissolve into eons I am on an Oligocene beach an Eocene beach a Cretaceous beach the scene is the same It is night the turtles are coming back always back I hear a deep hiss of breath and catch a glint of wet shell as the continents slide and crash the oceans form and grow

Investigating Firefly and Serenity Rhonda Wilcox, Tanya Cochran, 2008-07-30 Joss Whedon probably the first recognised TV auteur who brought us Buffy and Angel is also the creator of the remarkable space Western Firefly and the major Firefly film Serenity Firefly ran for twelve hour long episodes in 2002 before being cancelled by the network But this premature burial had an extraordinary outcome the fans self named Browncoats just kept multiplying buying the dvds keeping the show alive with blogs fan fiction podcasts their own films meetings conferences their numbers increased when the major Firefly motion picture Serenity was released in 2005 This book is the definitive one on both Firefly and Serenity It is ambitious in depth and comprehensive covering all aspects from detailed chapters on scenes and themes through explorations of the music the characters actors and fans It is written by over 20 of the best US and international Whedon scholars tv and film critics and writers It's the must have book for followers of Whedon and his works and for students of quality and cult tv

Full of Secrets David Lavery, 1995 A study of Twin Peaks the first foray into television for film director David Lynch It addresses topics which include the series cult status its obsession with doubling and its silencing of women It also analyses the series from feminist deconstructionist and semiotic perspectives

Inscribing Science Timothy Lenoir, 1998 Metaphors of inscription and writing figure prominently in all levels of discourse in and about science The description of nature as a book written in the language of mathematics has been a common trope since at least the time of Galileo a metaphor supplemented in our own day by the characterization of DNA sequences as the code for the book of life decipherable in terms of protein semantic units An important recent direction in the fields of science and literature studies is to consider such descriptions as more than metaphoric as revelatory of the processes of signification in science more generally Nearly everywhere we look the semiotic turn is upon us Recent science and technology studies have been characterized by a rich diversity of research directions manifesting several trends apparently counter to one another On the one hand stands the rich tradition of detailed microstudies of experiments instruments and scientific practice on the other hand are grouped studies grander in scope aimed at examining science within the framework of cultural production This volume of sixteen essays seeks common ground among these different approaches by juxtaposing work from historically focused science and literature studies with work inspired by poststructuralist philosophy and semiotics The contributors are Gillian Beer Lisa Bloom Robert Brain Lorraine Daston Richard M Doyle David Gugerli Hans Ulrich Gumbrecht Friedrich Kittler Timothy Lenoir Alex Pang Philip Prodger Hans J rg Rheinberger Robin Rider Brian Rotman Simon Schaffer and Bernhard Siegert

On Beyond Living Richard Doyle, 1997 What do biologists study when they study life today Drawing on tools from rhetoric and poststructuralist theory the author argues that the ascent of molecular biology with its emphasis on molecules such as DNA rather than organisms was enabled by crucial rhetorical softwares Metaphors such as the genetic code made possible a transformation of the very concept of life a transformation that often casts organisms as information systems With careful readings of key texts from the history of molecular biology such as those of Erwin Schr dinger George Gamow Jacques Monod and Fran ois Jacob the author maps out the complex relations between the practices of rhetoric and the technoscientific triumphs they accompanied triumphs that bolstered a postvital biology that increasingly elides and questions the boundary between organisms and machines There have been many popular books and a few academic ones on the Human Genome Initiatives On Beyond Living is a genealogy of these initiatives a map of how we have come to equate human beings with information Melding contemporary theory with scientific discourse it is certain to provoke discussion and controversy in the fields of cultural studies theory and science with its penetrating inquiries into the relations between rhetoric and technoscience

The Great Brain Suck Eugene Halton, 2008-11-15 More and more information is pumped into our media saturated world every day yet Americans seem to know less and less In a society where who you are is defined by what you buy and where we prefer to experience reality by watching it on TV Eugene Halton argues something has clearly gone wrong Luckily Halton with scalpel sharp wit in one hand and the balm of wisdom in the other is here to operate on the declining body politic His initial diagnosis is bleak fast food and too much time spent sitting whether in our cars or on our couches are ruining our bodies while our minds are weakened by the proliferation of electronic devices TVs computers cell phones iPods video games and their alienating effects If we are losing the battle between autonomy and automation he asks how can our culture regain self sufficiency Halton finds the answer in the inspiring visions deeply rooted in American culture of an organic and more spontaneous life at the heart of the work of master craftsman Wharton Esherick legendary blues singer Muddy Waters urban critic Lewis Mumford and artist Maya Lin among others A scathing and original jeremiad against modern materialism The Great Brain Suck is also a series of epiphanies of a simpler but more profound life

Institutional Cosmopolitanism Luis Cabrera, 2018-09-25 Is a global institutional order composed of sovereign states fit for cosmopolitan moral purpose Cosmopolitan political theorists challenge claims that states nations or other collectives have ultimate moral significance

They focus instead on individuals on what they share and on what each may owe to all the others They see principles of distributive justice and increasingly political justice applying with force in a global system in which billions continue to suffer from severe poverty and deprivation political repression interstate violence and other ills Cosmopolitans diverge widely however on the institutional implications of their shared moral view Some argue that the current system of competing sovereign states tends to promote unjust outcomes and stands in need of deep structural reform Others reject such claims and contend that justice can be pursued through transforming the orientations and conduct of individual and collective agents especially states This volume brings together prominent political theorists and International Relations scholars including some skeptics of cosmopolitanism in a far ranging dialogue about the institutional implications of the cosmopolitan approach Contributors offer penetrating analyses of both continuing and emerging issues around state sovereignty democratic autonomy and accountability and the promotion and protection of human rights They also debate potential reforms of the current global system from the transformation of cities and states to the creation of some encompassing world government capable of effectively promoting cosmopolitan aims

Free Trade in the Bermuda Triangle-- and Other Tales of Counterglobalization Brett Neilson, 2004 An alternative approach to mapping the world offers a new way to contest capitalism and globalization Shangri La the Bermuda Triangle Transylvania the Golden Triangle far flung in popular conception these anomalous places nonetheless occupy the same mysterious zone a mythography of unruly cartographic practices And because this mythography becomes associated with a particular area of the earth's surface it may well suggest an alternative means of mapping the world dissociated from the dominant geographical paradigms of nation state economic region and the global local marketing nexus Large scale nonnational geographical spaces that find their genesis in popular feeling mystery and belief these four sites provide Brett Neilson with the basis not only for rethinking the current global reorganization of space and time but also for questioning the dominant narrative by which globalization marks the victory of capitalism Free Trade in the Bermuda Triangle moves between analysis of popular fantasies and engagement with on the ground realities weaving together topics as diverse as airplane disasters off the U S Atlantic coast the global drug trade vampire culture in postsocialist Europe and the search for utopia in Chinese occupied Tibet The study of globalization is largely a solemn affair occupied with increasing economic polarities environmental degradation and global insecurity Free Trade in the Bermuda Triangle maintains a critical focus on these sobering issues but at the same time asks how popular pleasure and enjoyment can create viable alternatives to the current global order Neilson takes seriously the proposition that capitalism must be contested at its own level of generality finding provisional grounds for resistance in nonlocal transnational spaces that embody quotidian hopes desires and anxieties By studying the real and imagined dimensions of these popular geographies his book seeks resources for social betterment in the fallen mythologies of the contemporary postutopian world

Virtual Immortality - God, Evolution, and the Singularity in Post- and Transhumanism Oliver Krüger, 2021-10-01 In recent years ideas of post and transhumanism have been popularized by novels TV series and Hollywood movies According to this radical perspective humankind and all biological life have become obsolete Traditional forms of life are inefficient at processing information and inept at crossing the high frontier outer space While humankind can expect to be replaced by their own artificial progeny posthumanists assume that they will become an immortal part of a transcendent superintelligence Kr ger s award winning study examines the historical and philosophical context of these futuristic promises by Ray Kurzweil Nick Bostrom Frank Tipler and other posthumanist thinkers The Essential HBO Reader Gary R. Edgerton,Jeffrey P. Jones,2013-07-24 Essays on the history of HBO a company designed to please audiences instead of advertisers and the impact of its distinctive programming Recommended Choice The founding of Home Box Office in the early 1970s when it debuted by telecasting a Paul Newman movie and an NHL game to 365 households in Wilkes Barre Pennsylvania was a harbinger of the innovations that would transform television as an industry and a technology in the decades that followed HBO quickly became synonymous with subscription television and the leading force in cable programming Over decades it s grown from a domestic movie channel to an international powerhouse with a presence in over seventy countries It is now a full service content provider with a distinctive brand of original programming famed for such landmark shows as The Sopranos and Sex and the City It s brought us Six Feet Under and The Wire Band of Brothers and Angels in America Curb Your Enthusiasm and Def Comedy Jam Inside the NFL and Real Sports with Bryant Gumbel Taxicab Confessions and Autopsy and multiple Oscar winning documentaries The Essential HBO Reader brings together an accomplished group of scholars to explain how HBO s programming transformed the world of television and popular culture and provides a comprehensive and compelling examination of HBO s development into the prototypical entertainment corporation of the twenty first century An important assessment of the original programming HBO has created in the past few decades how these programs are derived and what impact they have had Choice A thorough treatment of HBO s programming a useful addition to a growing number of books about American television in the post network era American Studies Second Nature John C. Witte,2014-07-01 John Witte s poetry sweeps the reader immediately into its crosscurrents its passionate engagement and its ambivalence Composed of staggered tercets the poems in Second Nature track the chaotic rush and swerve of life as we live it Wide open to the world Witte writes with uncommon energy and urgency and his vision is exhilarating Second Nature teems with expertly realized lyrics monologues and narratives as well as poems based on historical figures from Ovid to Janis Joplin The metaphors for human endurance and the transformative power of art and community are accurate and rich Alert to the dangers of love and loss Witte finds his poems where sorrow and transcendence converge Like birds singing their desperate psalm in a clear cut his poems bring us a rare kind of hope

Projecting the Shadow Janice Hocker Rushing,Thomas S. Frentz,1995-12 The cyborg is the hero of an increasingly popular genre of American film Drawing from representative films such as Jaws The Deer Hunter and The Manchurian

Candidate the authors track the narrative's thread from the hunter to his technological nemesis Replications J. P. Telotte, 1995 A haunting fascination fuels our interest in the robot the android the cyborg the replicant Born in science fiction literature the artificial human has come into its own in films lurching to life holding a mirror to humanity's soul Beginning with a pre history of the filmic robot J P Telotte traces its development through early sci fi landmarks such as Metropolis 1926 the alien films of the 1950s including Forbidden Planet and recent explorations of the artificial human in Blade Runner Robocop and the Terminator films Replications also considers the tension between the technological wonders that science fiction depicts and the human values it champions Film makers employ the latest developments in technology to fashion ever more realistic human doubles and then use them to explore what it means to be human Telotte shows us how the sci fi genre has always addressed changing cultural attitudes toward technology the body gender roles human intelligence reality and even film itself Science Fiction Film J. P. Telotte, 2001-09-24 Examines one of the most enduring genres of Hollywood cinema the science fiction film Deny All Knowledge David Lavery, Angela Hague, Marla Cartwright, 1996-12-01 The X Files was one of the most subversive and longest running science fiction series in US television history Yet very little serious work has been done to examine the hit series Deny All Knowledge examines topics such as Why is the series such a hit worldwide Why is The X Files so popular online generating dozens of websites and chat groups daily How does The X Files Conspiracy Theory compares to shows from the 1950s Can The X Files be considered a modern day myth What does The X Files tell us about gender roles today Seinfeld, Master of Its Domain David Lavery, Sara Lewis Dunne, 2010-06-15 After a slow and inauspicious beginning Seinfeld broke through to become one of the most commercially successful sitcoms in the history of television This fascinating book includes classic articles on the show by Geoffrey O'Brien and Bill Wyman first published in the New York Review of Books and Salon.com respectively and a selection of new and revised essays by some of the top television scholars in the US looking at issues as wide ranging as Seinfeld's Jewishness alleged nihilism food obsession and long running syndication The book also includes a comprehensive episode guide and Betty Lee's lexicon of Seinfeld language Societal Impact of Spaceflight Steven J. Dick, 2007
