Gustafsson,2015-12-11 Written by a diverse group of scholars and practitioners from Latin America the US and Europe and taking into consideration the recent global financial crisis the book offers a multifaceted insight into the expectations as well as the possible threats related to Latin America s incorporation into the sphere of global interconnectedness

Globalization, Regional Development and Local Response Leendert Andrew de Bell,2005 In a world that has become increasingly interconnected over the past decades economically politically socially and culturally new challenges are posed to development Since the 1980s development has increasingly become interpreted in terms of increasing integration into the world economy Export oriented manufacturing became widely viewed as the surest recipe for realizing economic growth while reducing income inequality and the role of foreign direct investments became increasingly important in development strategies worldwide However not every region industry and social group managed to become successfully integrated into the world economy In order to explain why these processes of economic restructuring have had such a differential impact this study situates developments within a wider historical social and political context to establish how these processes of globalization are mediated at the regional and local level The main object of study concerns the drastic socioeconomic transformation that has taken place in the state of Coahuila situated in the northeast of Mexico bordering the United States over the past three decades In particular since the start of NAFTA in 1994 Coahuila has become one of Mexico's most successful export oriented manufacturing states most importantly as a result of the large number of foreign direct investments it received However the effects of these developments have been unevenly distributed among its sub regions while questions must also be raised about its ability to contribute to sustained long term growth with equity The key issue appears to be not whether but how regions and localities become linked to the world economy page 4 of cover

Politics of Development Heloise Weber, 2014-08-13 The Politics of Development A Survey provides an overview of the intrinsically political relations of development It brings together essays written by experts in the politics of development and covers a range of significant and topical concerns gender race indigenous development social movements religion security environmental concerns colonialism and its legacies migration the political economy of development trajectories in urbanization and the agrarian question It introduces and examines key concepts and approaches which have underpinned development as well as the struggles it has engendered historically and in contemporary contexts This volume provides critical insights into the global politics of development and offers alternative analytical frameworks for understanding the relationships around development and inequalities The Politics of Development A Survey is organized in an accessible manner catering to a wide audience ranging from undergraduates at University level to practitioners and Non Governmental Organizations NGOs engaged in advocacy as well as practical political aspects and provides introductions to key issues and themes around contemporary challenges and opportunities in development The title also includes an A Z Glossary covering key terms organizations concepts and actors in the politics of development

Political Economies of Landscape Change James L. Jr Wescoat, Douglas M. Johnston, 2007-12-05 Places of Power Political Economies of Landscape Change asks how politics and economics transform the landscapes we inhabit This volume explores the connections between political economy and landscape change through a series of conceptual essays and case studies In so doing it speaks to a broad readership of landscape architects geographers and related fields of social and environmental research The book consists of an introductory essay with nine chapters commissioned from leading geographers landscape architects political scientists and economists and a concluding essay on implications for future landscape inquiry and design The book is organized in three major sections Part one titled Landscapes of Struggle Possibility and Prosperity includes a chapter on new axioms for reading the landscape followed by two chapters that read processes of economic development and distress in mountain landscapes of the U S and South America Part Two on Political and Economic Driving Forces of Landscape Change includes two chapters each on political driving forces political constructs and institutions and economic driving forces environmental economics and global financial markets Part Three titled Integrative Landscape Change compares innovative rural landscape policies in Europe and the U S and draws implications for future landscape inquiry planning and design

Political Conflict and Development in East Asia and Latin America Richard Boyd, Galjart Benno, Tak-Wing Ngo, 2007-01-24 Long run processes of socio economic change generate prodigious problems of social conflict and social control and governments responsible for these processes must therefore manage the resultant conflict Consequently the success or failure of a government s management of such conflicts is a crucial factor in development outcomes This volume investigates the political struggle for development specifically in two vital regions East Asia and Latin America This analysis calls into question the dominant emphasis on institutional and cultural bases for stable growth A careful historical account of the two regions is presented which permits the rigorous testing of conventional wisdoms regarding development Of importance to a broad range of academics in the spheres of development studies politics political economy and sociology this book will also make an interesting read for those with a general interest in these areas

Latin American Neostructuralism Fernando Ignacio Leiva, This landmark work is the first sustained critique of Latin American neostructuralism the prevailing narrative that has sought to replace market fundamentalism and humanize the savage capitalism imposed by neoliberal dogmatism Fernando Leiva analyzes neostructuralism and questions its credibility as the answer to the region s economic political and social woes Recent electoral victories by progressive governments in Latin America promising economic growth social equity and political democracy raise a number of urgent questions including What are the key strengths and weaknesses of the emerging paradigm What kinds of transformations can this movement enact Leiva addresses these issues and argues that the power relations embedded in local institutions culture and populations must be recognized when building alternatives to the present order Considering the governments in countries such as Chile Argentina and Brazil Leiva examines neostructuralism s impact on global politics and challenges whether this paradigm constitutes a genuine alternative to neoliberalism or is rather a more sophisticated form of consolidating existing systems
