Timelines of American Literature Cody Marrs, Christopher Hager, 2019-01-29 A collection of engaging essays that seeks to uniquely reperiodize American literature It is all but inevitable for literary history to be divided into periods Early American antebellum modern post 1945 such designations organize our knowledge of the past and shape the ways we discuss that past today These periods tend to align with the watershed moments in American history even as the field has shifted its perspective away from the nation state It is high time we rethink these defining periods of American literary history as the drawing of literary timelines is a necessary even illuminating practice In these short spirited and imaginative essays 23 leading Americanists gamely fashion new unorthodox literary periods from 600 B C E to the present from the Age of Van Buren to the Age of Microeconomics They bring to light literary and cultural histories that have been obscured by traditional timelines and raise provocative questions What is our definition of modernism if we imagine it stretching from 1865 to 1965 instead of 1890 to 1945 How does the captivity narrative change when we consider it as a contemporary not just a colonial genre What does the course of American literature look like set against the backdrop of federal denials of Native sovereignty or housing policies that exacerbated segregation Filled with challenges to scholars inspirations for teachers anchored by an appendix of syllabi and entry points for students Timelines of American Literature gathers some of the most exciting new work in the field to showcase the revelatory potential of fresh thinking about how we

The Dictator Novel Magalí Armillas-Tiseyra, 2019-07-15 Where there are dictators there are novels about dictators But dictator novels do not simply respond to the reality of dictatorship As this genre has developed and cohered it has acquired a self generating force distinct from its historical referents The dictator novel has become a space in which writers consider the difficulties of national consolidation explore the role of external and global forces in sustaining dictatorship and even interrogate the political functions of writing itself Literary representations of the dictator therefore provide ground for a self conscious and self critical theorization of the relationship between writing and politics itself The Dictator Novel positions novels about dictators as a vital genre in the literatures of the Global South Primarily identified with Latin America the dictator novel also has underacknowledged importance in the postcolonial literatures of francophone and anglophone Africa Although scholars have noted similarities this book is the first extensive comparative analysis of these traditions it includes discussions of authors including Gabriel Garc a M rquez Ng g wa Thiong o Alejo Carpentier Augusto Roa Bastos Domingo Faustino Sarmiento Jos M rmol Esteban Echeverr a Ousmane Semb ne Chinua Achebe Aminata Sow Fall Henri Lop s Sony Labou Tansi and Ahmadou Kourouma This juxtaposition illuminates the internal dynamics of the dictator novel as a literary genre In so doing Armillas Tiseyra puts forward a comparative model relevant to scholars working across the Global South

Resources in Education , 2001 Teaching Gender through Latin American, Latino, and Iberian Texts and Cultures Leila Gómez, Asunción Horno-Delgado, Mary K. Long, Núria Silleras-Fernández, 2015-06-25 Teaching Gender through Latin American Latino and Iberian Texts and Cultures provides a dynamic exploration of the subject of teaching gender and feminism through the fundamental corpus encompassing Latin American Iberian and Latino authors and cultures from the Middle Ages to the 21st century. The four editors have created a collaborative forum for both experienced and new voices to share multiple theoretical and practical approaches to the topic. The volume is the first to bring so many areas of study and perspectives together and will serve as a tool for reassessing what it means to teach gender in our fields while providing theoretical and concrete examples of pedagogical strategies, case studies relating to in-class experiences and suggestions for approaching gender issues that readers can experiment with in their own classrooms. The book will engage students and educators around the topic of gender within the fields of Latin American, Latino and Iberian studies, Gender and Women's studies, Cultural Studies, English Education, Comparative Literature, Ethnic studies, and Language and Culture for Specific Purposes within Higher Education programs. Teaching Gender through Latin American, Latino and Iberian Texts and Cultures makes a compelling case for the central role of feminist inquiry in higher education today. Startlingly honest and deeply informed, the essays lead us through classroom experiences in a wide variety of institutional and disciplinary settings. Read together, these essays articulate a vision for twenty-first century feminist pedagogies that embrace a rich diversity of theory, methodology, and modality.

Special Religious Education in Australia and its Value to Contemporary Society, Zehavit Gross, Suzanne D. Rutland, 2021-02-22. This book explores the advantages of and challenges concerning Special Religious Education (SRE) in multicultural Australia and argues for the need for General Religious Education (GRE) as well. Through the lens of the most recent scholarship and drawing on an in-depth qualitative study and specific case studies, the book examines the current debate on the role of religious education within government schools. It addresses key concepts of values education, spirituality, health and wellbeing, and cultural and religious identity. It analyses why it is important to retain SRE together with GRE as government policy. It explores highly relevant controversial and contested issues regarding SRE, including the 30% of Australia's population who declare themselves as having no religion, and brings fresh insights to the table. While secularization has increased in both the national and international spheres, there has also been an increase in fundamentalism within religious beliefs. Events such as the September 11 terror attacks and the more recent mass shootings by white supremacists and eco-fascists in Christchurch, New Zealand, and Pittsburgh and San Diego in the USA are reminders that religion is still a major actor in the twenty first century This poses new challenges for the relationship between church and state and demonstrates the need to revisit the role of religious education within government schools While the importance of GRE is generally acknowledged SRE has increasingly come under attack by some researchers and teacher and parent bodies as being inappropriate and contradictory to the values of the postmodern world On the other hand the key stakeholders from all the faith traditions in Australia wish to retain the SRE classes in government schools The book addresses this burning issue and shows that it is relevant not only for Australia but also globally Latinos in Libraries, Museums, and Archives Patricia Montiel-Overall, Annabelle Villaescusa Nuñez, Verónica Reyes-Escudero, 2015-12-17 Written by three experienced LIS professionals Latinos in Libraries Museums and Archives demonstrates the meaning of cultural competence in the everyday work in libraries archives museums and special collections with Latino populations The authors focus on their areas of expertise including academic school public libraries health sciences archives and special collections to show the importance of understanding how cultural competence effects the day to day communication relationship building and information provision with Latinos They acknowledge the role of both tacit and explicit knowledge in their work and discuss ways in which cultural competence is integral to successful delivery of services to communication with and relationship building with Latino communities Generating Transworld Pedagogy Belinda Bustos Flores, Olga A.
