Gwynne, Cristobal Kay, 2014 Media and Accountability in Latin America Mariella Bastian, 2019-01-30 This study approaches a pressing question for the public the media and in academia how can the media be held accountable By focusing on the relationship between media and accountability in the understudied region of Latin America Mariella Bastian provides a theoretical framework for the analysis of media accountability MA beyond the Global North The underlying conditions for the development of MA in Brazil Argentina and Uruguay are identified by conducting a multi method study The author also gives an overview of the status quo of the implementation of both traditional and innovative MA instruments Globalization and Children Natalie Hevener Kaufman, Irene Rizzini, 2007-05-08 ALLISON JAMES Globalization seems to be the word on everyone s lips with politicians as much as academics extolling its benefits as well as its contradictions For some globali tion means in practice that whether in Bangkok or Boston in London or Rio as travelers from wealthy countries they can be sure to find the beer the pizzas and the jeans that they can at home they can be both at home and away simulta ously For others though globalization has had rather different often less beneficial consequences In their everyday lives people have come to find themselves tied in albeit in often unseen ways into larger economic and political systems over which they have no control yet these systems cause radical changes often for the worse rather than the better in the pattern of their daily lives And it is those who have least voice whose lives are usually affected the most In this book attention is drawn systematically really for the first time to a consideration of how processes of globalization variously impact upon the lives of children Such an approach is not only most welcome in the field of childhood studies but also long overdue It will at last enable us to begin to contextualize in a broader framework some of the many issues to do with children's rights and participation which have long been discussed as separate and discrete issues within childhood studies Latin America, Second Edition Robert B.

Globalization, Regional Development and Local Response Leendert Andrew de Bell, 2005 In a world that has become increasingly interconnected over the past decades economically politically socially and culturally new challenges are posed to development Since the 1980s development has increasingly become interpreted in terms of increasing integration into the world economy Export oriented manufacturing became widely viewed as the surest recipe for realizing economic growth while reducing income inequality and the role of foreign direct investments became increasingly important in development strategies worldwide However not every region industry and social group managed to become successfully integrated into the world economy In order to explain why these processes of economic restructuring have had such a differential impact this study situates developments within a wider historical social and political context to establish how these processes of globalization are mediated at the regional and local level The main object of study concerns the drastic socioeconomic transformation that has taken place in the state of Coahuila situated in the northeast of Mexico bordering the United States over the past three decades In particular since the start of NAFTA in 1994 Coahuila has become one of Mexico's most successful export oriented manufacturing states most importantly as a result of the large number of foreign direct investments it received However the effects of these developments have been unevenly distributed among its sub regions while questions must also be raised about its ability to contribute to sustained long term growth with equity The key issue appears to be not whether but how regions and localities become linked to the world economy page 4 of cover
