The Routledge Handbook of African Law provides a comprehensive critical overview of the contemporary legal terrain in Africa. The international team of expert contributors adopt an analytical and comparative approach so that readers can see the nexus between different jurisdictions and different legal traditions across the continent. The volume is divided into five parts covering Legal Pluralism and African Legal Systems, The State, Institutions, Constitutionalism and Democratic Governance, Economic Development, Technology, Trade and Investment, Human Rights, Gender Based Violence and Access to Justice, International Law, Institutions and International Criminal Law. Providing important insights into both the specific contexts of African legal systems and the ways in which these legal traditions intersect with the wider world, this handbook will be an essential resource for academics, researchers, lawyers and graduate and undergraduate students studying this ever evolving field.

Data Journalism and the COVID-19 Disruption Jingrong Tong, 2024-07-30. Data Journalism and the COVID 19 Disruption offers an international multidisciplinary account of how and to what extent the COVID 19 pandemic has been a blessing for data journalism. Bringing together insights into current developments in data journalism during and since the onset of the COVID 19 pandemic from world leading data journalism practitioners and academics, this book draws on case studies and examples from different countries to critically reflect on emerging data journalism practices during the pandemic and their sustainability and implications for journalism and newsroom work in the post pandemic era. The chapters document changes in the practice and integration of data journalism into newsrooms and the 24/7 news cycle after the unexpected onset of the pandemic and explore how newsrooms and journalists are coping with the sudden and immense demand for data journalism and related challenges. This book also scrutinises the implications for understanding the roles played by newsroom structure and operation, the uncertain nature of data and the relationship between journalism and other social entities such as audiences and the state in journalism's development through times of crisis. Offering a timely contribution to the discussions on how data journalism evolved during a time of crisis, this volume will appeal to scholars and students of data journalism, journalism practice, media and communication studies and media industry studies.

An Anthology of African Cultural Studies, Volume I Keyan G. Tomaselli, Handel Kashope Wright, 2024-10-04. This volume provides an overview of fundamental or grounding themes in African Cultural Studies, including the articulation of African cultural studies, the issue of Africa's diaspora, African identity and identifications and media studies in Africa and its relationship with cultural studies. The first of two volumes, the book predominantly pulls together a rich reservoir of previously published articles from Critical Arts, South North Cultural and Media Studies, mapping a long history of the field that draws from a diverse range of origins and locations, especially from within Africa itself. The first section of the book addresses how African cultural studies has been called for and explained, both as a comprehensive continental and sometimes national discourse and as being in conversation with established global cultural studies. The second section addresses the African diaspora and what might be termed diasporic African cultural studies. A third principal theme explored is how African identities and identifications are articulated.

in African cultural studies On spatiality the volume takes a stance on the exclusive continental versus continuity conception of Africa the African diaspora is treated as contributory and its relationship to the continent as problematic while taking up continental Africa as the principal location of African cultural studies In terms of identity Blackness is taken up as the dominant but importantly not exclusive racial identity and identification of African cultural studies and gender and social class are also addressed in novel ways The book ends with an examination of the complex relationship between media studies and cultural studies This book will be a key resource for academics researchers and advanced students of African cultural studies media and cultural studies African studies history politics sociology and social and cultural anthropology while also being of interest to those seeking an introduction to the sub field of African cultural studies Insight Guides South
