Good Wood Growth Loss And Renewal:

Good Wood Steven R. Radosevich, 2005 As a young man Steve Radosevich learned to prune trees by watching his grandfather Working in the apple orchards of the struggling family farm he saw that every cut was a decision conscious and deliberate about the health of the trees and their coming crops In Good Wood Radosevich examines the choices conscious and unconscious we make in life and how those choices affect the health of people and places Good Wood is a clear eyed finely hewed collection of personal essays on farming forestry and family in the Pacific Northwest Radosevich draws on his experiences on two farms the homeplace a family farm in Washington s Yakima Valley and Kla Kla nee his small vineyard in Oregon s Willamette Valley Radosevich is also a professor of forestry and his commitment to sustainable forestry informs his writings His book seamlessly combines recollections of tending smudge pots on freezing spring nights east of the Cascades with discussions of the biological and ethical issues surrounding clearcuts in the Oregon Coast Range His family s history on the land and his three decade involvement in debates over natural resource use in the region provide Radosevich with a context for exploring a wide range of issues from the flooding of Native fishing grounds at Celilo Falls and the fate of Columbia River salmon to salvage logging soil erosion and mad cow disease All these losses writes Radosevich have been decisions too made consciously I think but with less deliberation than the forethought of a farmer pruning his orchard As keeper of the old family orchard and tender of a new family farm Radosevich reveals in these stories his deliberate choices and his hopes for the world of his children and grandchildren
