Gordon Matta Clark A Retrospective:

Lee,2001-08-24 In this first critical account of Matta Clark s work Pamela M Lee considers it in the context of the art of the 1970s particularly site specific conceptual and minimalist practices and its confrontation with issues of community property the alienation of urban space the right to the city and the ideologies of progress that have defined modern building programs Although highly regarded during his short life and honored by artists and architects today the American artist Gordon Matta Clark 1943-78 has been largely ignored within the history of art. Matta Clark is best remembered for site specific projects known as building cuts. Sculptural transformations of architecture produced through direct cuts into buildings scheduled for demolition. These works now exist only as sculptural fragments, photographs and film and video documentations. Matta Clark is also remembered as a catalytic force in the creation of SoHo in the early 1970s. Through loft activities, site projects at the exhibition space 112 Greene Street and his work at the restaurant Food, he participated in the production of a new social and artistic space. Have art historians written so little about Matta Clark's work because of its ephemerality or as Pamela M. Lee argues because of its historiographic, political and social dimensions? What did the activity of carving up a building in anticipation of its destruction suggest about the conditions of art making, architecture and urbanism in the 1970s? What was one to make of the paradox attendant on its making that the production of the object was contingent upon its ruination? How do these projects address the very writing of history, a history that imagines itself building toward an ideal work in the service of progress? In this first critical account of Matta Clark's work, Lee considers it in the context of the art of the 1970s, particularly site specific, conceptual and minimalist practices and its confrontation with issues of community, property, the alienation of urban space, the right to the city and the ideologies of progress that have defined modern building programs.

Gordon Matta-Clark? Conical Intersect Peter Muir, 2017-07-05. In this in depth analysis, Peter Muir argues that Gordon Matta Clark's Conical Intersect 1975 is emblematic of Henri Lefebvre's understanding of art's function in relation to urban space. By engaging with Lefebvre's theory in conjunction with the perspectives of other writers such as Michel de Certeau, Jacques Derrida and George Bataille, the book elicits a story that presents the artwork's significance, origins and legacies. Conical Intersect is a multi media artwork which involves the intersections of architecture, sculpture, film and photography as well as being a three dimensional model that reflects aspects of urban art and architectural theory along with a number of cultural and historiographic discourses which are still present and active. This book navigates these many complex narratives by using the central hole of Conical Intersect as its focal point. This apparently vacuous circle around which the events, documents and other historical or theoretical references surrounding Matta Clark's project are perpetually in circulation. Thus Conical Intersect is imagined as an insatiable absence around which discourses continually form, dissipate and resolve. Muir argues that Conical Intersect is much more than an artistic hole. Due to its location at Plateau Beaubourg in Paris, it is simultaneously an object of art and an instrument of social critique.

Art Of The Postmodern Era Irving Sandler, 2018-05-30. Sandler discusses the major and minor artists and their works, movements, ideas, attitudes and styles and the social and cultural context of the period. He covers post modernist art theory, the art market and consumer society. American and European art and artists are included.

The Unmaking of Home in Contemporary Art Claudette Lauzon, 2017-04-24. In a world where the notion of home is more traumatizing than it is comforting, artists are using this literal and figurative space to reframe human responses to trauma.

Building on the scholarship of key art historians and theorists such as Judith Butler and Mieke Bal Claudette Lauzon embarks upon a transnational analysis of contemporary artists who challenge the assumption that home is a stable site of belonging Lauzon's boundary breaking discussion of artists including Krzysztof Wodiczko Santiago Sierra Doris Salcedo and Yto Barrada posits that contemporary art offers a unique set of responses to questions of home and belonging in an increasingly unwelcoming world From the legacies of Colombia's dirty war to migrant North African workers crossing the Mediterranean The Unmaking of Home in Contemporary Art bears witness to the suffering of others whose overriding notion of home reveals the universality of human vulnerability and the limits of empathy Gordon Matta-Clark Frances

Richard, 2019-03-26 Bringing a poet's perspective to an artist's archive this highly original book examines wordplay in the art and thought of American artist Gordon Matta Clark 1943-1978 A pivotal figure in the postminimalist generation who was also the son of a prominent Surrealist Matta Clark was a leader in the downtown artists community in New York in the 1970s and is widely seen as a pioneer of what has come to be known as social practice art He is celebrated for his architectural environments and performances and the films photographs drawings and sculptural fragments with which his site specific work was documented In studies of his career the artist's provocative and vivid language is referenced constantly Yet the verbal aspect of his practice has not previously been examined in its own right Blending close readings of Matta Clark's visual and verbal creations with reception history and critical biography this extensively researched study engages with the linguistic and semiotic forms in Matta Clark's art forms that activate what he called the poetics of psycho locus and total semiotic system Examining notes statements titles letters and interviews in light of what they reveal about his work at large Frances Richard unearths archival biographical and historical information linking Matta Clark to Conceptualist peers and Surrealist and Dada forebears Gordon Matta Clark Physical Poetics explores the paradoxical durability of Matta Clark's language and its role in an aggressively physical oeuvre whose major works have been destroyed American Artists art history and poststructural formalism that is foundational to understanding the role of art in the construction of a more just and egalitarian society The book will be of interest to scholars working in art history architecture urbanism and environmental humanism Gordon Matta-Clark Gordon Matta-Clark, Thomas E.
