Italian Battleships Of World War II New Vanguard:

Italian Battleships of World War II Mark Stille, 2011-08-20 Italy's navy the Regia Marina was the fourth largest naval force in the world at the outbreak of World War II and yet is often overlooked and largely discounted as ineffective. In general the fleet was made up of obsolete vessels, lacked radar functionality and had a reputation for indiscipline and poorly trained crews. The complex and bureaucratic command system imposed on the fleet further hampered its effectiveness. In this book Mark Stille details why the Italian battleships were able to maintain a solid reputation, examining their impressive designs and the courage and determination of the fleet at Calabria, Sirte, Cape Spartivento and Cape Matapan, all illustrated with stunning photographs from the Italian Navy's own archives.

Italian Cruisers of World War II Mark Stille, 2018-05-31

The Italian Royal Navy Regia Marina operated one of the largest cruiser forces of World War II. As a signatory to the 1922 Washington Naval Treaty, the Regia Marina immediately attempted to reinforce its treaty-limited battleship force by building seven large 10,000-ton heavy cruisers. Italian light cruisers also possessed an interesting design history and were involved in every major fleet engagement in the Mediterranean as well as several smaller encounters with units of the British Royal Navy. Fully illustrated with specially commissioned artwork, this fascinating volume examines the history of the Regia Marina's cruisers during World War II where they came up against the might of the British Royal Navy.

Italian Light Tanks Filippo Cappellano, Pier Paolo Battistelli, 2012-06-20 The Italian army, unlike those of the British and French, did not use tanks in combat during World War I and by November 1918 only one training unit equipped with French Schneider and Renault tanks had been formed. Consequently, during the 1920s the Italian army had just one single tank type in its armoured inventory, the Fiat 3000. Only in 1927 was the first tank unit formed as a branch of the infantry and not as an independent organization, while the cavalry rejected the idea of both tanks and armoured cars and decided to stand by the use of horses for its mounted units. Between 1933 and March 1939 a further 2,724 CV 33 L3 tanks were built, 1,216 of which were exported all over the world. By the time Italy entered the war in June 1940, the army had 1,284 light tanks, 855 of which were in combat units, including three armoured divisions. Variants of the CV 33 L3 tanks included flame throwers, bridge layers, recovery vehicles and a radio command tank. Some L3 tanks were still in use in 1945 by both the Germans and the German-allied Italian units of the Repubblica Sociale.

British Battleships 1939-45 (1)

Angus Konstam, 2012-12-20 With the outbreak of World War II Britain's Royal Navy and her fleet of battleships would be at the forefront of her defence. Yet ten of the 12 battleships were already over 20 years old having served in World War I and required extensive modifications to allow them to perform a vital service throughout the six long years of conflict. Angus Konstam offers a comprehensive review of the development of these British battleships from their initial commissioning to their peacetime modifications and wartime service with detailed descriptions of the effectiveness of the main armament of individual ships. With specially commissioned artwork and a dramatic re-telling of key battleship conflicts, this book will highlight what it was like on board for the sailors who risked their lives on the high seas. Italian Medium Tanks Filippo

Cappellano, Pier Paolo Battistelli, 2012-12-20 Several factors delayed and greatly hampered the development of an Italian medium tank during World War II. Light tanks were preferred as these were deemed much more suitable for the narrow roads and bridges of the Alps along the borders of neighbours France and Yugoslavia. Development was also hampered by limited industries with fragmented production. Thus the first prototype of an Italian medium tank, the M 11, did not enter production until 1939. This book examines the Italian M tanks which, although technically inferior to their German and Allied counterparts in 1941-43, proved to be effective when used by experienced crews with adequate combat tactics. Alongside illustrations throughout, Filippo Cappellano and Pier Paolo Battistelli discuss the types as well as the experiments that produced interesting prototypes such as the anti-aircraft semovente. British Battleships 1914-18 (1) Angus

Konstam, 2013-05-20 The launch of HMS Dreadnought in 1906 changed the face of naval warfare. The first half-dozen dreadnoughts were all improvements of the basic Dreadnought design, all carrying ten 12-inch guns. It was only in 1911, with the launch of HMS Neptune, that the layout of this powerful armament was altered as a result of practical experience. Two more versions of the Neptune entered service later that same year. These nine improved dreadnoughts formed the core of the British High Seas Fleet. This book, the first of two volumes covering these famous warships, uncovers the full story of the British battleships of World War I. It examines their revolutionary design, the 12-inch guns that provided them with their firepower, and the way these guns were fired in anger. Imperial Japanese Navy Destroyers 1919-45 (2) Mark

Stille, 2013-09-20 During the Pacific War, the most successful component of the Imperial Japanese Fleet was its destroyer force. These ships were larger and, in most cases, better equipped than their Allied counterparts. Armed with a powerful long-ranged torpedo, these ships proved formidable opponents. Initially, they were instrumental in an unbroken string of Japanese victories, but it was not until the Guadalcanal campaign that these ships fully demonstrated their power. In a series of daring night actions, they devastated Allied task forces with their deadly torpedoes. This volume details the history, weapons, and tactics of the Japanese destroyers built just before and throughout the war, including the famous Kagero and Yugumo classes, the experimental destroyer Shimakaze that boasted a top speed of almost 40 knots and 15 torpedo tubes, and the Matsu class that represented the Japanese equivalent to an Allied destroyer escort. These ships were designed to be built quickly and cheaply but proved to be very tough in combat Tanks of Hitler's Eastern Allies 1941-45 Steven J. Zaloga,2013-04-20

The titanic armor battles of the Russian Front are widely known but the role of Germany's eastern allies is less so. Romania and Hungary manufactured their own tanks as well as purchasing tanks from Germany, older obsolete types such as the PzKpfw 35 t all the way up to the latest and best German vehicles including the Tiger I and Hetzer. These tanks played a frequent role in the battles in southern Russia and Ukraine and were especially prominent in the disaster at Stalingrad where the Red Army specifically chose the weaker Romanian and Hungarian salients for their critical envelopment operation. Ideal for modellers and armor enthusiasts, this is a broad survey of the various and colorful tanks used in these battles. As well as the largest of these Axis tank forces, the book features coverage of the many smaller and lesser known forces including the Italian contingent in Russia, the Finnish armored force, and the small but interesting armored forces of the Russian Vlasov, RONA, Croatian, Bulgarian, and Slovakian armies.

U.S. Battleships 1939-45 Ingo Bauernfeind,2024-08-31 As usual in Casemate publications, the book uses high quality pictures and diagrams extensively to illustrate and amplify the points in the text. It would be difficult to find a book as well illustrated, accessible, and affordable as this fine offering. National Maritime Historical Society. For nearly half a century, the battleship was the most powerful weapon on the ocean, deployed by the US Navy and many other fleets. However, their time seemed to be at an end when Japanese carrier-based aircraft destroyed so many at Pearl Harbor in 1941, ushering in the age of the aircraft carrier. Nevertheless, US battleships continued to serve with distinction in various roles throughout World War II and during the Cold War. Naval historian Ingo Bauernfeind tells the dramatic yet successful story of the US Navy's battleships and battle cruisers by class, ranging from the early Dreadnought type of the South Carolina class to the gigantic but never built Montana class. This fully illustrated volume gives a clear overview of each ship's career, its fate, and highlights its significance in American naval history. Besides covering various battles in the Pacific, it also describes the important actions of US battleships providing shore bombardment during the invasions of Iwo Jima and Okinawa, as well as during the D-Day landings in Normandy, thus illustrating their contribution to Allied victory in World War II. Moreover, it covers the little-known actions of the Iowa class during the Korean and Vietnam wars and even during Operation Desert Storm in 1991, when the modernized USS Missouri and USS Wisconsin fired guided missiles and operated drones in addition to the use of their historic 16-inch guns. This volume culminates in a guided tour through the mighty USS Missouri, an overview of the other seven preserved US battleships serving as floating museums for future generations, as well as a dive to the sunken USS Arizona and USS Utah at Pearl Harbor.

M3 Infantry Half-Track 1940-73 Steven J. Zaloga,2013-06-20 As armored warfare tactics matured, mechanized infantry became a key ingredient in what is now called combined arms doctrine. For the US Army of World War 2, the most important technical aspect of infantry mechanization was the development of the M3 half-track personnel carrier. Steven Zaloga explores the early 1930s development of the half-track, its first deployment in action in the Philippines in 1941, and its varied and vital role in international deployments since World War 2 This authoritative text also examines the operators of half tracks and the troops that they carried

BMP Infantry Fighting Vehicle 1967-94 Steven J. Zaloga,2013-06-20 The Russian BMP infantry fighting vehicle IFV was one of the most significant innovations in infantry tactics in the latter half of the 20th century Built in response to the threat of nuclear warfare it was the world s first IFV providing the infantry squad with unprecedented firepower mobility and protection With over 55 000 manufactured since 1966 the BMP is also numerically one of the most important armoured vehicles ever built This richly illustrated book examines the development and design of the BMP detailing its armaments performance in combat and variants

British Motor Gun Boat 1939-45 Angus Konstam,2013-03-20 Motor Gun Boats were the Spitfires of the Seas of the Royal Navy Bristling with small calibre guns and machine guns they served in a variety of roles during the War In the early war period they battled against German E boats in the English Channel then went on the offensive searching the enemy shore for targets of opportunity At other times they ran support for Motor Torpedo Boats and were used to deliver commandos on various raids Naval Warfare expert Angus Konstam tells the story of these small but destructive boats beginning with their design and development and carrying through to their operational use in both the European and Mediterranean theatres of World War II

M7 Priest 105mm Howitzer Motor Carriage Steven J. Zaloga,2013-07-20 Based upon the ubiquitous Grant Sherman tank the M7 Priest is the iconic Allied self propelled howitzer This compact illustrated guide explores the most widely manufactured vehicle of its type in World War II utilized by the US British Canadian and Free French forces Its combat debut was with Montgomery s Eight Army at El Alamein and it fought subsequently in every major campaign through Sicily Italy Normandy and the final battles in Germany In addition to covering all variants of the Priest this book also looks at the major derivatives including the British Canadian Sexton and the US M12 155mm GMC

T-34-85 Medium Tank 1944-94 Steven J. Zaloga,Jim Kinnear,2013-08-20 The T 34 85 tank is one of those rare weapons that have remained in service for more than half a century First introduced in 1944 it has seen combat in nearly every corner of the globe Alongside detailed illustrations Steven Zaloga and Jim Kinnear look at this long serving Soviet tank at length including its operational history design and development and later modifications Although long obsolete in Europe it has proven a reliable and potent weapon in many conflicts in lower income countries and is still in service with more than a dozen armies around the world

T-34/76 Medium Tank 1941-45 Steven J. Zaloga,2013-08-20 The T 34 was the most influential tank design of World War 2 When first introduced into combat in the summer of 1941 it represented a revolutionary leap forward in tank design Its firepower armour protection and mobility were superior to that of any other medium tank of the period This superiority did not last long While the T 34 underwent a series of incremental improvements during 1943 it was being surpassed by new German tank designs most notably the Panther This compact illustrated guide traces the life of the original T 34 through all its difficulties to eventual success

Imperial Japanese Navy Destroyers 1919-45 (1) Mark Stille,2013-03-20 This volume will detail the history weapons and tactics of the Japanese destroyers built before the war This includes the famous Fubuki class called Special Type by the Japanese which were when completed in the late 1920 s the most powerful class of destroyers in the world This design forced all other major navies to follow suite and provided the basic design for the next many classes of Imperial Navy destroyers This book will also cover the three classes built before the Special Type which were based on a German World War I design as well as two classes built after the advent of the Special Type All of these ships had a rich history as they fought from the first battles of the Pacific War up until the very end when several accompanied the superbattleship Yamato on her death sortie The final part of the book will be an analysis of the destroyer designs covered in the book which will include an examination of their strengths and weaknesses The success or lack of success of these designs will be discussed and they will be compared to comparable Allied destroyer designs

Austro-Hungarian Battleships 1914-18 Ryan K. Noppen, 2012-09-20 The primary purpose of Austria Hungary s navy until the beginning of the twentieth century was the defense of its coastline As its merchant marine dramatically grew admirals believed that the navy should take a more proactive policy of defense The 1890s saw the beginning of a series of naval building programs that would create a well balanced modern fleet including a force of modern battleships In this illustrated history Ryan Noppen examines how these ships came to be and the difficulties experienced in battleship funding and construction mirrored the political difficulties and ethnic rivalries within the empire This book details the five classes of Austro Hungarian battleships in service during World War I

M103 Heavy Tank 1950-74 Kenneth W Estes, 2013-03-20 The T43 design represented the pinnacle of U S Army tank engineering of the late

1940s The heavy tank proved fairly popular with its crews who above all respected the powerful armament it carried The outbreak of war in Korea brought a rush order in December 1950 which led to a complete production run of 300 vehicles After 1951 the Marine Corps alone retained confidence in the heavy tank program investing its scarce funds in the improvements necessary to bring about its fielding after a hurried production run in midst of the tank crisis of the year 1950 51 The eventual retirement of the M103 in 1972 over 20 years after manufacture and after 14 years of operational service demonstrated the soundness of its engineering It may have been the unwanted ugly duckling of the Army which refrained from naming the M103 alone of all its postwar tanks For the Marine Corps it served the purpose defined for it in 1949 until the automotive and weapons technology of the United States could produce viable alternatives
